Course Description: This course will introduce students to the practical skills required for the successful management of arts organizations. Areas covered will include community and civic engagement in the arts, budgeting, marketing, fundraising, audience development, contracts, board governance, and issues associated with the founding of a nonprofit organization.

Course Objectives: By the end of this course, students will have developed an understanding of the critical areas which arts administrators must manage, including Development, Fundraising, Budgeting, Grant writing, Marketing and Audience Development. Additionally, students will discover advanced concepts applied by arts administrators.

As arts organizations become increasingly complex, they will demand knowledgeable and skilled individuals with an aesthetic sensibility, business acumen and a keen understanding of current issues and trends that are relevant to those organizations’ health, prosperity, and in some cases, survival. Designed primarily, for students in the performing and visual arts, this class will complement their training as artists, teachers and practitioners, and help lay the foundation for their future participation in arts organizations either as leaders or as participants and supporters.

Attendance Policy: Regular and punctual class attendance is essential and that no assigned work is excused because of an absence, no matter what the cause. Records of class attendance will be kept. If it becomes necessary for a student to miss a class for any reason, the instructor must be contacted directly via email or phone prior to class time.

More than three absences will result in a reduction in your grade.

Email Notification and Policy: Only the official UF student email address will be used for course communication. It is the student’s responsibility to check UF email on a regular basis. All members of the class are expected to follow rules of common courtesy in all email messages, threaded discussions and chats. If the instructor deems any of them to be inappropriate or offensive, they will be forwarded to the Dean of the College of the Arts and appropriate action will be taken, not excluding expulsion from the course.
