DESCRIPTION
The saxophone chamber music program at the University of Florida provides the student with the opportunity to work with a small number of other musicians to create art in a chamber music setting. The course includes the following components:

Rehearsals with Dr. Helton, or with a Graduate Assistant, will take place weekly. Instruction will focus on techniques that will enable the ensemble to progress most efficiently. Particular emphasis will be placed on musical aspects of chamber performance: shaping lines, intonation, musical communication and ensemble performance.

Public performance is required on the saxophone ensembles concert during the final weeks of the semester. Other public performances my also be scheduled (convocations, studio classes, conferences, festivals, etc.). Performance experience is essential to the development of a performing chamber ensemble.

Attendance at the Saxophone Spring Retreat is required. This event will take place on March 21 at the UF forestry department’s Austin Cary Forest Learning Center 10 miles north of campus. Rehearsals and sectionals for our final concert will take place on this day. Plus we’ll have some fun.

OBJECTIVES
At the conclusion of this course the student should have an increased awareness of the challenges and rewards of rehearsing and performing chamber music. The student should have a specific knowledge of performing in the areas of repertoire, rehearsal techniques, and performance practices.
