The University of Florida School of Theatre + Dance Presents Its Fall Musical, The Drowsy Chaperone, October 16-25

Gainesville, Fla., Sept. 30, 2015 – The University of Florida (UF) School of Theatre + Dance is pleased to present The Drowsy Chaperone, a Tony Award-winning musical comedy with book by Bob Martin and Don McKellar, music and lyrics by Lisa Lambert and Greg Morrison, and direction and musical staging by Professor Tony Mata. The show runs Oct. 16-25, 2015 in the Constans Theatre located in the Nadine McGuire Theatre and Dance Pavilion on UF's campus. Performance times are 7:30 p.m. October 16-17 and October 20-24, and at 2 p.m. October 18 and October 25. Tickets are $13 for UF students, $15 for UF faculty/staff and senior citizens, and $18 for the general public.

The Drowsy Chaperone takes place in the apartment of a shut-in Broadway aficionado where an old recording of the fictional 1920s musical classic, The Drowsy Chaperone, comes to life through the imagination of its listener and brings the whole audience along for the ride. This play pays tribute—and pokes more than a little fun—at the liveliness and spectacle of the early twentieth-century American musical genre, featuring stock characters, comedy gags and a plot that ties up a little too neatly, but that leaves the audience doubled over and perhaps a little less “blue” than when they arrived.

“The Drowsy Chaperone celebrates the musical form and is so unashamedly irreverent at the same time that people just fall in love with it,” says Mata. “The musical is a very specific art form and, at the same time, pokes fun at all the devices that we use in musicals to make these well-oiled machines that people love without even knowing that they have this formula.”

Mata has directed past School of Theatre + Dance productions as Sweeney Todd, Guys and Dolls and Chicago, and is being honored in October at the Library of Congress for his documentary film, Theatre of Rice and Beans, a retrospective look at New York Latino theatre.

The Drowsy Chaperone first premiered at The Rivoli in Toronto in 1998 and debuted on Broadway in 2006. The musical won five Tony Awards, including Best Original Score and Best Book of a Musical, as well as seven Drama Desk Awards. It has had major productions in Los Angeles, the West End and Canada. The show went on to do a North American tour, as well as successful runs in Japan, Australia and Brazil.

“The experience is all about...finding refuge from a bad old world in a good old musical...It's not just about spinning a record, it's about how art can transform your sense of the universe.”
