Rediscover the Excitement and Innocence of Youth with Spring Awakening at the University of Florida October 28 through November 6

Gainesville, Fla., October 18, 2016 – The University of Florida (UF) School of Theatre + Dance presents Spring Awakening, Friday, Oct. 28, 2016 through Sunday, Nov. 6, 2016 at the Constans Theatre located in the Nadine McGuire Theatre and Dance Pavilion on UF's campus. Tony Mata, UF School of Theatre + Dance Professor, is in charge of direction and musical staging with the help of School of Music Associate Professor Anthony Offerle as musical director. Performance times are 7:30 p.m. Oct. 28-29 and Nov. 1-5 and at 2:00 p.m. Oct. 30 and Nov. 6.

Set in Germany near the turn of the century, this captivating musical tells the story of a group of teenagers dealing with sexual awakening, youth revolt and self-discovery. Determined Melchior and naïve Wendla manage to take comfort with one another with passionate curiosity, while an uneasy Moritz fights to fit in with the rigid expectations set by both family and society. With only each other to rely on, these three along with their classmates struggle in this emotional coming-of-age story to discover their bodies, minds, and themselves battling the suppressive society of unjust teachers and adults.

“Spring Awakening’s story is all about the miscommunication between the kids and the adults,” Mata said. “There is a separation between the adults in this production by having them suspended and overlooking the kids to enhance that idea of separation. The design is very Brechtian in some ways like the set and contemporary in others like some of the costumes.”

The show is based on the controversial play of the same title by Frank Wedekind and was made into a musical with the help of Steven Sater writing the book and lyrics and Duncan Sheik providing the music. Since its Broadway premiere at the Eugene O’Neill Theatre on Dec. 10, 2006, directed by Michael Mayer, the show has become an unforgettable piece of musical theatre.

The original Broadway production starred Lea Michele as Wendla, Jonathan Groff as Melchior, and John Gallagher Jr. as Moritz and won eleven Tony Awards in 2007 including Best Musical. The show had a recent remount in 2015 by Deaf West Theatre directed by Michael Arden and included a wonderful cast of deaf and audible actors.

Sater and Sheik have continued to work together after their success with Spring Awakening in 2007 on a new work called The Nightingale, which is based on Hans Christian Andersen's classic tale about a young emperor in China, whose lavish lifestyle trapped inside the walls of the Forbidden City is overturned by the song of an extraordinary bird that lives beyond the wall. The Nightingale was directed by Tony Award Nominee Moisés Kaufman in 2012.

Tickets for the UF production are $18 for the general public, $15 for UF faculty/staff and seniors, and $13 for students. Season and group prices are also available.
