Course Description:
This course surveys the art and architecture of Europe, the Mediterranean basin, and the Near East from prehistory through the medieval era, situating works in the cultural context of their creation and reception. Lectures and section meetings introduce students to key concepts and issues of the discipline of art history, such as the political and social dimensions of art, representation of the body, architectural space and siting, style, gender, narrative, iconography, appropriation and historical reference, monumentality, the role of the viewer, and abstraction and resistance to representation.

This course and its continuation, ARH 2051, are the gateways into the art history major/minor, and they are both designed to prepare students for further study in art history. Many non-majors also take this course, and they are equally welcome.

Introduce students to the concepts, issues, methods, and vocabulary of the discipline of art history.

Inform students about the variety of social, cultural, and economic contexts in which art was produced and used in order to explain how these contexts affected the objects’ form and function.

Heighten visual acuity and increase facility in analyzing works of art and architecture, as well as other aspects of the visual environment.
Course Policies:

Attendance and due dates. Please look at your calendar at the beginning of the semester to see if you have any commitments (for example, religious holidays) that conflict with classes, due dates, or exams. If you do have a conflict, contact Dr. Ross in advance. Requirements for class attendance and make-up exams, assignments, and other work in this course are consistent with university policy that can be found at: https://catalog.ufl.edu/ugrad/current/regulations/info/attendance.aspx.

Final Exam. The time and date of the final exam is fixed by the UF Registrar, not Dr. Ross. Do not schedule vacation or family travel or another activity to conflict with the Final Exam. There will be no early exams offered.

Classroom demeanor. No talking on cell phones, ringing or beeping, texting, Facebooking, tweeting, emailing, noisy or smelly eating, etc., during class. Students are expected to assist in maintaining a classroom environment that is conducive to learning. Inappropriate behavior shall result, minimally, in a request to leave class.

Email. Please check your UF email account regularly for course announcements or replies to any emails you send. The instructors will email you through your UF email account. If your email box is full, her emails will be bounced back, and she will have no way to contact you. Please make sure to clean out your box to prevent this.

Accommodation. Students with disabilities requesting accommodations should first register with the Disability Resource Center (352-392-8565, www.dso.ufl.edu/drc/) by providing appropriate documentation. Once registered, students will receive an accommodation letter which must be presented to Dr. Ross when requesting accommodation. Students with disabilities should follow this procedure as early as possible in the semester.

Course evaluations. Students are expected to provide feedback on the quality of instruction in this course based on ten criteria. These evaluations are conducted online at https://evaluations.ufl.edu. Evaluations are typically open during the last two or three weeks of the semester, but students will be given specific times when they are open. Summary results of these assessments are available to students at https://evaluations.ufl.edu/results.

Academic Honesty:
UF students are bound by The Honor Pledge which states, “We, the members of the University of Florida community, pledge to hold ourselves and our peers to the highest standards of honor and integrity by abiding by the Honor Code. On all work submitted for credit by students at the University of Florida, the following pledge is either required or implied: ‘On my honor, I have neither given nor received unauthorized aid in doing this assignment.’” The Honor Code (http://www.dso.ufl.edu/sccr/process/student-conduct-honor-code/) specifies a number of behaviors that are in violation of this code and the possible sanctions. Furthermore, you are obligated to report any condition that facilitates academic misconduct to appropriate personnel. If you have any questions or concerns, please ask me (Dr. Ross).

UF’s policies regarding academic honesty, the honor code, and student conduct related to the honor code will be strictly enforced. This means that cheating and plagiarism will be penalized, and a report will be filed with the Student Conduct and Conflict Resolution office. During exams, personal items must be cleared from desks and chairs and placed in a bag on the floor, and phones must be turned off. For information on what constitutes plagiarism, consult the UF Plagiarism Guide at http://web.uflib.ufl.edu/mls/07b/studentplagiarism.html and "Misuse of Sources" on the course web site. If you have any questions, please ask me. An online plagiarism checker service may be used to screen papers.

“Misuse of Sources” quiz — Pass/Fail

There will be a Midterm Exam in class on Wednesday, February 26. The Final Exam will be Tuesday, April 28 from 7:30-9:30am in FAB 103. The exams will require (1) identification and discussion of images presented in class and in the reading and (2) essay responses to questions about themes developed in class and in the readings. You can find sample exam instructions and study tips at the end of this syllabus.

You will take two quizzes in section to practice the two types of exam questions where you write about images: “IDs” and “comparisons.” The practice ID quiz will be on Thursday/Friday, January 22/23, and the practice comparison quiz will be on Thursday/Friday, February 5/6. There will be two vocabulary quizzes given in section on Thursday/Friday, February 19/20 and April 16/1.

There will be a take-home comparison due in section on Thursday/Friday, March 26/27. This will be a 2- to 3-page (600- to 900-word) descriptive analysis of two works of art from class or in UF’s Harn Museum of Art. Instructions will be distributed in section on Thursday/Friday, March 12/13.

In preparation for the paper, you will read a brief text: Gordon Harvey, “Misuse of Sources,” Chapter 3 of Writing with Sources, 2nd ed. (Indianapolis: Hackett, 2008), 29-44. You will then take a short online quiz. There is a link to the text on the <Home> page of the course web site. Access the quiz through the <Quizzes> link at the left of the course web site. You should complete the online quiz by Thursday, March 12. You may take the quiz as many times as you need until you get all the questions right, but you must get all the questions right to pass the quiz (= 15 points). You will not receive a grade for the quiz, but you must pass the quiz to pass the course.

Attendance:
Prompt attendance is required at all classes. Repeated unexcused absences or habitual tardiness will result in a lowering of your attendance and class participation grade. Attendance will be taken at all section meetings and at many lectures.

Required Textbooks:

See the document called <Textbook Purchase Information> on the course web site for an explanation of the different format options for the textbooks and for tips on finding inexpensive used copies online.

The texts are also on reserve at the Architecture and Fine Arts Library.

Students should complete the reading for each week before their section meeting. **
In the News and Recommended Links:
Throughout the syllabus are links to recent “In the News” stories from the last few years about works or themes studied in the course. There are also “Recommended Links” to multimedia materials on the web that supplement the lectures, sections, and readings. You can also access these through the <In the News> and <Recommended Links> links on the <Home> page of the course web site. These stories and materials are optional, and each should engage 2 to 15 minutes of your time.

Many of the “In the News” stories come from The New York Times, which offers you a free subscription through UF. In order to retrieve your free subscription, go to my.ufl.edu. After signing in, click on <Main Menu>, then click on <Quick Links>, and finally click on <NY Times>. From there, follow the directions. Please use your ufl.edu email address when signing up.

A History of the World in 100 Objects:
The British Museum has one of the world’s great collection of antiquities and, therefore, many of the works seen in this course. In 2010, in conjunction with the BBC (the British version of PBS and NPR), they produced a series of 15-minute radio shows called “A History of the World in 100 Objects,” with each show giving an in-depth look at one object in the museum’s collection. These are available for free as podcasts. Some of the “Recommended Links” take you to web pages for objects in this series. You will find the podcast link in the upper right-hand corner of each web page. You can also download the podcasts for free from iTunes; just click here.

ARTstor QTVR:
UF subscribes to an online image database called ARTstor, which has begun to add Quicktime Virtual Reality (QTVR) files that give you a 360° view of buildings. In order to access ARTstor QTVRs, you must be logged in to the UF network. If you are off campus, you can use the VPN or this off-campus login page (gray bar on left). Or, use an on-campus computer connected to the network.

Below you will see “ARTstor QTVR” followed by the name of a building. Clicking on the name of the building will take you to a page in ARTstor with thumbnail(s). Click <QTVR> beneath each thumbnail. Clicking the thumbnail itself will open a still image, not the QTVR. Use your mouse to navigate within the QTVR.

I have also grouped all these links in a public folder in ARTstor called “Ross ARH 2050.” From the ARTstor home page, click <Find> at the top of the page and choose <Browse image groups> from the pull-down menu. Click on the plus (+) sign next to “Ross ARH 2050” to display the list of buildings. Click on the name of a building.
