The University of Florida College of the Arts intends to be a transformative community, responding to and generating paradigmatic shifts in the arts and beyond. We do so by:

- Embracing the complexity of our evolving human experience and seeking to empower our students, faculty, and staff to shape that experience fearlessly through critical study, creative practice, and provocation.
- Collaborating effectively with the forces of change.
- Preparing students to access and unsettle centers of power in a radically changing world.
- Facilitating an arts education that will position emerging artists and researchers as catalysts for equity on local and global levels.

What do arts students bring to future employers?

Teamwork

I AM A DESIGNER. I collaborate with others to solve problems.

I AM A DIRECTOR. I work with my peers to bring a shared vision to life.

Communication skills

I AM A CREATIVE. I can engage any audience.

I AM A THEORIST. I articulate the abstract.

Adaptability

I AM AN ARTIST. I welcome critique and thrive on feedback.

I AM A PERFORMER. I prepare for all situations and easily navigate change.

Innovation

I AM A DIGITAL ARTIST. I push the boundaries of technology to create new works and solutions.

Your Creative Home

The College of the Arts is home to multiple courses, clubs, and activities that are open to all students on campus regardless of your major. Music ensembles, theatre shows, digital production agencies, art clubs, and dance troupes add to the vibrance of UF's campus culture.

Artists are increasingly experts in multiple fields.

What will you choose?

And, why not both?

Opportunities are limitless when you combine individualized arts programs and a top-tier research university. Customize your academic journey to define your own artistic voice. Majors at the College of the Arts can be combined with other programs to receive a second bachelor's, minors, certificates, or even a master's degree.

Spaces that Drive Research, Creativity, and Learning

The Digital Worlds Institute's cutting-edge teaching and research facilities include advanced technology geared to empower creativity, collaboration, and innovation.

The Polymodal Immersive Classroom Theater (PICT) is a panoramic hybrid environment for teaching and learning utilizing ultra-widescreen media, interactive media and video games, as well as live networked performing arts events.

The Virtual Production Studio (VPS) is a custom-designed workspace equipped with a large cyclorama and green screen, flexible lighting systems for photography and video production, and high-fidelity audio recording capabilities.

The GYM is a dynamic, fully equipped classroom & production space that allows online and campus students to gain experience and fluency in both physical and virtual studio environments. Its unique technical capabilities foster inventive time-based digital media production and interdisciplinary collaboration.

The Reality Lab is home to our Masters in Digital Arts & Science (MiDAS) students. The adaptive lab space is designed for multidisciplinary teaching and learning, team-based collaboration, the production of new media constructs and development of intellectual property. Graduate students have 24/7 access to powerful computer workstations capable of creating dynamic virtual, augmented, and mixed reality experiences.

Create and connect.
Discover your purpose.

The Center for Arts in Medicine

is committed to advancing research, education, and practice in arts in health, locally and globally. Through ongoing interdisciplinary research, training programs, and dynamic academic programs, the center serves as a national model for arts in health. Students in the program are at the forefront of the field, studying with leading researchers and practicing in their own communities. Learn more at: arts.ufl.edu/cam

The transformational power of the arts is undeniable. Sometimes a remedy is composed of equal parts medicine and art.

Degrees

Master of Arts in Arts in Medicine

Undergraduate Certificates in Applied Theater for Health, Dance in Medicine, Music in Medicine, or Visual Arts in Medicine

Graduate Certificates in Arts in Medicine or Arts in Public Health

Why Not Both?

Combine your passion for creativity with your courage to transform health. Undergraduate certificates can be combined with almost any bachelor's program.

4+1 Bachelor + Master of Arts in Arts in Medicine Online

Students receiving a Bachelor of Music (Music in Combination) or Bachelor of Science (Public Health, Biology, Microbiology, Chemistry, or Psychology) can start work on their master's degree in junior or senior year and finish studies with only one additional year.

Leading and Healing

UF Health is one of the nation's leading healthcare systems and boasts one of the strongest and longest-standing clinical arts in medicine programs. Students volunteer alongside professional artists in residence at the hospital and in the community:

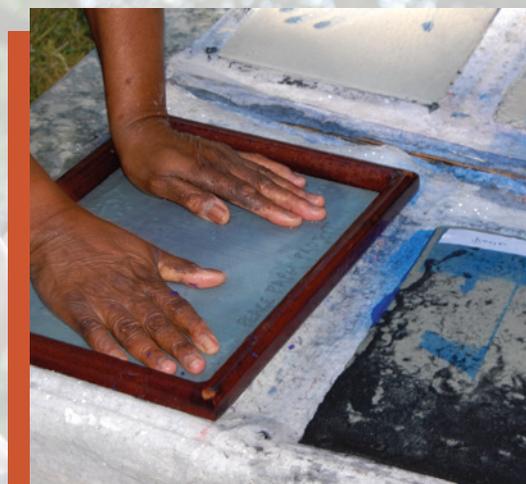

Performing at patients' bedsides

Leading dance classes for multiple sclerosis and Parkinson's patients

Facilitating art activities at the bedside and in community health settings

A Global Partnership

Faculty and students collaborate and practice in their communities, around the nation, and across the world. Annually, the center hosts arts in health intensives in Gainesville for students and practitioners as well as multiple international research and outreach projects.

The Future of Health

The Center for Arts in Medicine is leading and collaborating on research internationally on the role the arts can have in healthcare and public health. The Interdisciplinary Research Lab is made up of students across campus that are involved in data analysis and research studies that are changing how health systems see the arts and culture as partners in care.

The COVID-19 and Social Distancing study explores the psychosocial effects of quarantine to understand how the arts help people cope and communicate public health messages.

The EpiArts Lab analyzes how engaging with the arts impacts long-term health in the United States.

The Music in Emergency Medicine study seeks to demonstrate that live patient-requested music can positively impact quality and cost of care.

Center for Arts, Migration, and Entrepreneurship

The Center for Arts, Migration, and Entrepreneurship (CAME)

connects networks of scholars, artists, creatives, entrepreneurs, and advocates to the engines of creative and cultural economics at the heart of migration.

Defining the arts as all forms of cultural production, the center seeks to effectively create new models and power alignments that return value—entrepreneurship—to cultural producers to build more just global futures.

Through community-responsive programming, research, and creative production, the center facilitates and extends the innovation, resilience, and ingenuity of diasporic and migratory communities.

The cultural forms that persist, remix, or emerge along the tributaries of human movement generate abundant tangible and intangible value.

CAME takes an intentionally broad approach to its disciplines, recognizing both the challenges and opportunities each term carries.

Students have the opportunity to participate in performances ensembles and research activities
