

ORI 2000 - Oral Interpretation of Literature

Summer B 2020

Instructor: Nina Dramer

Email: nina.dramer@ufl.edu

Zoom link: Will be emailed weekly to your UF email on Sunday.

Class No./Period: 13993 / M,T,W,R,F (11:00AM – 12:15pm)

Office Hours: Appointment Only over Zoom.

Course Objectives:

- To develop communication & performance skills through oral presentation of literature
- To provide you with a greater appreciation of quality literature & performance
- To develop awareness of yourself in various aspects, such as physically, vocally, mentally, and emotionally
- To develop your critical thinking and analytical skills in identifying what works and doesn't work in performance

The Fundamentals of Performance include the ability to:

- Stand calmly and confidently
- Speak loudly and clearly enough to be easily understood
- Make eye contact with the audience
- Communicate thoughts and ideas with intention and purpose
- Utilize movement when natural

We will work towards building these fundamentals with a wide variety of tools, designed to develop your expressive potential in the reading of literature before an audience.

Course Content:

- Students will participate in exercises during class that are designed to develop the major skills required for acting. Students will be expected to prepare outside of class for these exercises and their scene work.
- Students will perform a series of pieces for the instructor and the class. It is imperative that you work on these scenes outside of class to prepare them for presentation.
- Students will also prepare written analysis in order to strengthen their performances and allow them an opportunity to articulate what it is they are trying to demonstrate in their pieces. There will also be in-class workshops for each of the pieces prior to the performance. A final scene presentation will occur during the last week of classes.
- In addition, Students will be required to complete short writing assignments.

Required Course Materials:

- This Syllabus, ORI 2000 Summer B 2020,
- Course Outline (Provided on Canvas)
- TEXTBOOK - Oral Interpretation by Timothy Gura and Charlotte Lee (11th Edition) (Available through UF Bookstore or through online retailers <https://www.amazon.com/Oral-Interpretation-Timothy-Gura/dp/0618308172>)
- Readings will be provided for you by the instructor on all aspects of performance techniques which you will be required to read and discuss in class.
- Poems, narratives, monologues, stories, etc. collected by the student. Copies must be made. Library West has an extensive collection of literature including one-act and full length plays which can be searched for by title and/or playwright.
- Appropriate apparel for class
- Appropriate writing utensils: pencils, pens, highlighters, etc.
- Access to internet, email and Canvas for class information, updates, grades, performance material.

Attendance Policy:

Attendance will be taken daily. Due to the nature of this course, attendance is MANDATORY.

You are allowed two (2) absences. If more than two absences occur, 2 points will be deducted from your participation grade for each additional absence. There are NO MAKE-UP ASSIGNMENTS FOR ABSENCES, including those that occur on workshop and/performance days, so plan your schedule accordingly. Absences in excess of five (5) will result in a failing grade.

Tardy Policy: You are allowed to be tardy to two (2) class meetings without penalty. Upon your 3rd tardy, 1 point will be deducted from your participation grade. Please note that it is your responsibility to notify the instructor after the class that you arrived late. If you come in late and the instructor is unaware, you will receive an absence for that day. If you arrive late, DO NOT come into the room while another student is performing – please be respectful!

Requirements for class attendance and make-up exams, assignments, and other work in this course are consistent with university policies that can be found at:

<https://catalog.ufl.edu/ugrad/current/regulations/info/attendance.aspx>

- Students are responsible for satisfying all academic objectives as defined by the instructor. Absences count from the first class meeting.
- Absences from class for court-imposed legal obligations (e.g., jury duty or subpoena) must be excused. Other reasons also may be approved at the instructor's discretion.

- Students shall be permitted a reasonable amount of time to make up the material or activities covered in their absence.
- Students cannot participate in classes unless they are registered officially or approved to audit with evidence of having paid audit fees. The Office of the University Registrar provides official class rolls to instructors.
- If a student does not participate in at least one of the first two class meetings of a course or laboratory in which they are registered, and he or she has not contacted the department to indicate his or her intent, the student can be dropped from the course. Students must not assume that they will be dropped, however. The department will notify students if they have been dropped from a course or laboratory.
- The university recognizes the right of the individual professor to make attendance mandatory. After due warning, professors can prohibit further attendance and subsequently assign a failing grade for excessive absences.

Please look carefully over the course calendar, and plan your schedule accordingly.

Dress Code:

Dress appropriately and comfortably, wearing clothes and shoes that allow you to move with ease. You will likely be getting up from your computer and using your body a lot. Make sure you have enough room to move around (~6 or 7 ft / a yoga mat)

On workshop days, dressing in sweats, t-shirts, comfortably fitting jeans, etc. are fine.

On presentation days, appropriate professional attire and/or costume will likely be required.

Performance Pieces:

The method of how to select each piece will be discussed in class. The pieces you work on and present MUST BE APPROVED BY THE INSTRUCTOR.

Workshop Days:

On Workshop Days, you must have the following:

- a. TWO copies of your scored script. One for you – one you have emailed to the instructor before class.
- b. Preparation
- c. Dressed in rehearsal clothes appropriate to the scene and the character.

Performance Days:

You will be assigned a day on which to perform your piece for the class. When you arrive, you must have the following prepared items:

- a. A suggestion of costume is encouraged or appropriate dress
- b. TWO copies of your final scored script/piece with any changes made. One for the student, one you have emailed to the instructor before class.
- c. A display of thorough preparation and rehearsal. Workshop discussions and other suggestions from both the instructor and the class should be fully worked into the piece.
 - Although memorization is not required, it is strongly encouraged that the student be highly familiar and comfortable with the material.

Class Conduct:

When you are not working in front of the class, you must give your full attention to your fellow classmate who is working. There will be ZERO TOLERANCE of cell phone use (including texting), sleeping, eating, drinking, doing work for other classes, newspaper reading, or disruptive talking in this class. If you engage in any of these behaviors, you will be ejected by the instructor and counted as absent for the day.

-In performance, we tend to learn more from our peers than our instructors. As such, give your peers the respect they deserve and pay attention to their work.

Required Viewing:

You are required to attend the UF School of Theatre and Dance production of Remove Before Flight, directed by Ryan Hope Travis. You will be required to write a two-page critique of the acting (of one to three actors) to demonstrate your understanding of the concepts you have learned thus far in this class. I will hand out guidelines for this paper before the show opens. Your critique is due to the professor's email the Wednesday after the show closes.

Remove Before Flight* Performance Etiquette:

All students must be in the Zoom waiting room at least 10 minutes before the show begins. DO NOT BE LATE. Although this show will be taking place digitally, these artists are doing their best to create a collective experience for their audience. Click the link on time, and stay for the post-show discussion. I will provide further details on how to register for tickets for the show once those details are released. (Tickets should be free to UF students).

Extra Credit:

Each student may write a critique on performances that are not part of the semester's required viewing. These must be performances with acting involved –please approach the instructor before attending and writing the critique. To receive full points (50), you must turn in a 1.5 double-spaced critique (not a report) with ticket stub. These performances can include, but are not limited to, productions at the Hippodrome State Theatre, Across Town Rep, Gainesville Community Playhouse, Phillips Center for the Performing Arts, or any other performances that you are interested in. Limit – 1 paper.

Special Accommodations:

Students with disabilities requesting accommodations should first register with the Disability Resource Center (352-392-8565, www.dso.ufl.edu/drc/) by providing appropriate documentation. Once registered, students will receive an accommodation letter which must be presented to the instructor when requesting accommodation. Students with disabilities should follow this procedure as early as possible in the semester.

Online Course Evaluations

Students are expected to provide feedback on the quality of instruction in this course by completing online evaluations at <https://evaluations.ufl.edu>. Evaluations are typically open during the last two or three weeks of the semester, but students will be given specific times when they are open. Summary results of these assessments are available to students at <https://evaluations.ufl.edu/results/>
