Course Description
How do artists, engineers, biologists, educators, physicians, writers, historians and other scientists and scholars know what they know? How do people become researchers? How do research practitioners approach a question or shape new knowledge within their discipline? This introductory seminar explores the questions inherent to the practice of research within, and across, the arts and sciences. The course provides a dynamic, interdisciplinary, and interactive overview of diverse research methodologies.

Learning methods include two primary activities: 1) Path to Practice lectures and panel discussions by guest faculty from a variety of disciplines and 2) Research Toolkit skill development and practice. Students will engage in problem-solving think tanks and workshops during class to practice skills and develop a basic research toolkit. This research seminar is appropriate for undergraduate students of all disciplines who are interested in research.
Course Objectives
1. Students will understand what the process of research looks like in a minimum of 3 fields or disciplines.
2. Students will identify types of research professionals.
3. Students will identify methods of data collection, analysis and dissemination.
4. Students will engage in a minimum 3 basic research skills.
5. Students will describe strengths and challenges of interdisciplinary research.

Course Policies

The course requires full participation in attendance and class discussion/interaction. You will have readings and short assignments to complete outside of class time. Our intention in the structure of this course is to keep you engaged with stimulating conversation and hands-on learning during class time. Your grade will reflect your ability to effectively participate with your instructor, guest lecturers, and peers. The required course components are weighted as follows:

Class Attendance, Tardiness, and Late Assignments

Requirements for class attendance and make-up exams, assignments, and other work in this course are consistent with university policies that can be found at: catalog.ufl.edu/UGRD/academic-regulations/attendance-policies/

Points will be reduced from late assignments at a rate of 5% per day for the first seven days, after which late assignments will receive an automatic 50% point reduction. Instructors will not accept assignments that are more than seven days late during the final week of class except in extenuating circumstances and with prior approval by the instructor.
Evaluation of Grades
Assignments Descriptions:
This section provides a brief summary of each assignment only. Full assignment descriptions, requirements and rubrics are available in e-learning.

Research the Researchers
When research presenters are scheduled, students will “research the researcher” to familiarize themselves with the researcher’s background and research interests prior to the start of class. Students will evaluate the research and develop questions for researchers.

Accessing Research Articles
Students will learn how to identify academic or scholarly journal articles and how to access them using the university library system.

How to Read a Research Article
Prior to beginning a research project it is critical to understand what research has already been conducted on a topic. For this assignment you will learn how to read an academic or scholarly research article and then complete an exercise that will require you to critically evaluate each of the sections of a research article. You will engage in an interactive discussion.

Developing Research Questions
Students will develop clear, measurable and specific research questions based upon their research interests.

Literature Review Rubric and Mindmap Group Project
Students will work within small groups to identify literature related to a specific research question and organize it into a supporting literature review

Group Research Proposal Video
Students will work in interdisciplinary teams to develop research proposals that include a clear research question, supporting literature review, proposed research methods, broader impacts. Students will be asked to clearly demonstrate creativity, innovation and interdisciplinarity within their proposal.

Post Evaluation
In this course you will complete a pre-evaluation at the start of the first class and a post-evaluation in the final class. These evaluations will specifically ask you about your research knowledge and are separate from the course evaluations that are distributed for each of your classes at the university. The evaluations are anonymous. You will complete these evaluations online and then upload proof that the evaluation was completed in order to receive credit.

Students Requiring Accommodations

Students with disabilities who experience learning barriers and would like to request academic accommodations should connect with the disability Resource Center by visiting https://disability.ufl.edu/students/get-started/. It is important for students to share their accommodation letter with their instructor and discuss their access needs, as early as possible in the semester.

Course Evaluation

Students are expected to provide feedback on the quality of instruction in this course by completing online evaluations at https://gatorevals.aa.ufl.edu/.

Evaluations are typically open during the last two or three weeks of the semester, but students will be given specific times when they are open. Summary results of these assessments are available to students at https://gatorevals.aa.ufl.edu/.

University Honesty Policy

UF students are bound by The Honor Pledge which states, “We, the members of the University of Florida community, pledge to hold ourselves and our peers to the highest standards of honor and integrity by abiding by the Honor Code. On all work submitted for credit by students at the University of Florida, the following pledge is either required or implied: “On my honor, I have neither given nor received unauthorized aid in doing this assignment.” The Honor Code (https://www.dso.ufl.edu/sccr/process/student-conduct-honor-code/) specifies a number of behaviors that are in violation of this code and the possible sanctions. Furthermore, you are obligated to report any condition that facilitates academic misconduct to appropriate personnel. Software Use
All faculty, staff, and students of the University are required and expected to obey the laws and legal agreements governing software use. Failure to do so can lead to monetary damages and/or criminal penalties for the individual violator. Because such violations are also against University policies and rules, disciplinary action will be taken as appropriate. We, the members of the University of Florida community, pledge to uphold ourselves and our peers to the highest standards of honesty and integrity.

Student Privacy
There are federal laws protecting your privacy with regards to grades earned in courses and on individual assignments. For more information, please see: http://registrar.ufl.edu/catalog0910/policies/regulationferpa.html

Online Course Policy
Our class sessions may be audio visually recorded for students in the class to refer back and for enrolled students who are unable to attend live. Students who participate with their camera engaged or utilize a profile image are agreeing to have their video or image recorded. If you are unwilling to consent to have your profile or video image recorded, be sure to keep your camera off and do not use a profile image. Likewise, students who un-mute during class and participate orally are agreeing to have their voices recorded. If you are not willing to consent to have your voice recorded during class, you will need to keep your mute button activated and communicate exclusively using the “chat” feature, which allows students to type questions and comments live. The chat will not be recorded or shared. As in all courses, unauthorized recording and unauthorized sharing of recorded materials is prohibited.
