

MFA Voice & Speech Training 2: Sound and Movement Training for Actors
TPP 6286 Class # 21606 Section 14CD
University of Florida Spring 2020

Time: 2nd & 3rd Periods (8:30-10:25) Days: M/W

Room: Flavet Field (or CON G013 for inclement weather)

Instructor: Susan Schuld Office: 213A

Office Hours: By appointment

Email: sschuld@ufl.edu The recommended method of communication outside of scheduled class time is email

COURSE DESCRIPTION

The particular focus is experiencing a visceral, sensual connection to heightened text. Students are taught that there is no standard, correct ‘sound’ for actors to use in speaking Shakespeare and other classic texts that do not call for a particular regional accent. Actors will experience Kristin Linklater’s Sound & Movement series as developed from “Freeing Shakespeare’s Voice”. In conjunction with their acting coursework, actors will apply these skills to Shakespearean sonnets, and monologues.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

- Experience a free body, voice, and emotions when speaking classical text. (by “free” I mean: open to creative impulse, spontaneous, powerful, vulnerable and capable of a range of expression.)
- Re-examine the tools, techniques and the current classical canon employed in the industry and reframe them through an inclusive cultural lens.
- Learn empowering information to respond to requests of sounds needing to be “fixed”
- Develop your actor’s process including considerations of awareness, judgment, discipline, curiosity, and a whole-self approach to creative work
- Learn to use evocative research as a part of your actor’s process
- Apply the work in performance (both in class and in outside projects)

LEARNING OUTCOMES

- To apply KTS skills of intelligibility using your own accent
- To hone your ability to find clues in Shakespeare’s texts and increase your range of textually supported physical, vocal and acting choices.
- To recognize rhetorical structures and employ tools to navigate complex poetic language.
- To identify, score and perform the sounds, rhythm and meter of heightened language.

COURSE OVERVIEW

To restore the connection of language to the body by using Kristin Linklater’s series of sound and movement exercises. To continue the re-circuiting of sensory experiences to oral communication. and to explore Louis Colaianni’s phonetic pillows which aims to teach the actor to be ultra-verbal: to simultaneously experience language in tactile, auditory and imagistic ways; indeed, to savor the tastes and smells of language. Voice exercises address adding breath capacity, calling, yelling, upper range resonance, and connecting the voice bottom to top. With these voice and speech skills we will examine the structure of Shakespeare’s verse and explore the elements of language that bring his text to life, such as antithesis, alliteration, laddering, and the use of rhetoric. Through improvisational group work and one-on-one monologue work the class aims to increase the actor's ability to fully and pleasurably embody the demands and joys of Shakespeare's text.

Unauthorized Recordings:

A student shall not without express authorization from the faculty member and, if required by law, from other participants, make or receive any recording, including but not limited to audio and video recordings, of any class, co-curricular meeting, organizational meeting, or meeting with a faculty member.

Please Note:

Our work in the studios is designed to be challenging; physically, intellectually, and emotionally. Voice, Movement, and Acting classes often involve touching. Physical contact may range from simple touch, to correcting alignment and/or relaxation massage. If you have a related medical consideration or touch makes you uncomfortable, it is your responsibility to notify the instructor at the start of the semester.

Student Responsibilities:

Students are expected to participate daily in warm-ups, exercises, and performances
Students must be dressed in appropriate movement clothing for every class and performance
Students are expected to hold outside of class rehearsals for all projects
Students must be supportive and respectful of their fellow classmates
Students must complete all assignments and performances on their assigned due date
Students must contribute focused and creative participation in all class exercises, assignments, and discussions

Attendance Policies:

Only a University sanctioned absence or medical absence will be excused.
No absences of any kind will excuse you from class responsibilities. You, the student, will be held accountable for keeping up with class assignments and projects.

3 unexcused absences = a single letter grade reduction
4 unexcused absences = a two letter grade reduction

6 unexcused absences = a three letter grade reduction

Tardiness:

Tardiness is disruptive to a class of this nature and will not be tolerated. Any tardiness will be recorded along with attendance. Attendance will be taken promptly at the start of class. If you enter the room after the role-call has been completed, you will be considered tardy. If you enter the room anytime after 20 minutes of the official start of the class you will be marked absent for that class day.

2 tardies = 1 absence

My communication policy:

Avoid using words such as "um", "like" or "kinda" when making observations or sharing with the group. This class' focus is on you expressing yourself more clearly and these words will not aid you in that purpose. If you feel a certain way about something, stick by it, don't take the power out of your observations and speech with these weak words.

Shows little or no understanding of basic ideas and methods taught and the applications of these ideas are often missing or inconsistently presented in class work
Class work is not prepared and/or presented on time or at all
Participates rarely or not at all in classroom critiques and/or discussions
Poor attendance

Class Participation and Professionalism

20% of your grade for this class is based on your participation and Professionalism in discussion and the physical explorations.

Participating in the physical component of the class, means having a positive and rigorous attitude with exploring new work. In other words, resistance to change or negative attitudes towards the work or feedback from the instructor is not participating. It means arriving early, suited up, and ready to move right when class starts.

Participating in discussion does not necessarily mean talking a lot or showing everyone else that you know or have studied a lot. ‘Good discussion’ participation involves trying to build on, and synthesize, the physical experience that has transpired. It also involves showing, respect and appreciation for others’ comments and contributions and learning how to “agree to disagree”.

If you find yourself talking a lot in the feedback sessions, some of the most helpful things you can do are allow for a quiet interlude. Learning to live with unanswered questions is a valuable skill as an actor/artist.

Skills that define a Professional Attitude are:

Syllabus MFA Voice & Speech Training 2 Spring 2019 Instructor Susan Schuld

Demonstrate empathy, integrity, honesty, good interpersonal skills, curiosity, courage, and desire for change.

Ability to function in the face of uncertainties questions and stresses, which are inherent in the training and artistic process, as well as the profession.

Ability and willingness to respond physically to appropriate verbal and tactile cues given by their teachers.

Acknowledgment that the work is the discipline and self-discipline will lead to the attainment of one's goals.

Mistakes to Avoid:

Refusing to Ask for Help

Not Being Able to Handle Feedback

Gossiping

Being Afraid to Make Mistakes

Not Admitting You Made a Mistake

Having a Bad Attitude

Not Learning from Your Classmates

Not Being Prepared

Comparing your Artistic Journey to Other's Journey's

Email Policy

Electronic mail or "email" is considered an official method for communication because it delivers information in a convenient, timely, cost effective and environmentally aware manner. Students are expected to check their official UF email on a frequent and consistent basis in order to remain informed of university-related communications. The university recommends checking email daily. Students are responsible for the consequences of not reading, in a timely fashion, university-related communications sent to their official student email account. This policy ensures that all students have access to this important form of communication. It ensures students can be reached through a standardized channel by faculty and other staff of the university as needed.

Online course evaluation:

Students are expected to provide feedback on the quality of instruction in this course by completing online evaluations at <https://evaluations.ufl.edu>. Evaluations are typically open during the last two or three weeks of the semesters, but students will be given specific times when they are open. Summary results of these assessments are available to students at <https://evaluations.ufl.edu/results>.
