I am available for meetings at other times by appointment.

Seminar Description
Recognizing that the Rococo is not a stable idea or category, this seminar considers how two “constants” (femininity and women) nonetheless have attended the Rococo in many of its reiterations since the eighteenth-century. Understood as a style that is associated with resistance or opposition to power (originally, elite opposition to absolutist power), how did it come to be emblematic of powerful women like Mme de Pompadour or Empress Eugénie? How did the Rococo define female power and vice versa? And when present-day celebrities like Vivienne Westwood, Madonna or Nicki Minaj are represented as latter-day “rococo” queens, do conceptions of the nature of female power change or is it déjà-vu all over again? We will also be considering how rococo “queenship” can be understood to operate in relation to other forms of resistance to cultural authority, such as that represented by “Lolita” fashion (especially in Japan), the queer engagements with the Rococo of Andy Warhol and the post-colonial take on the Rococo by Yinka Shonibare. Then again, to paraphrase Linda Nochlin, we will want to think about why have there been no (?) “Rococo” women artists (great or otherwise) . . .

Course Objectives
This is a focused research seminar in which students will pursue individual interests that build on key readings and concepts discussed collectively in class meetings. Seminar participants will become conversant with ways in which the gendering of style offers a useful lens for understanding aspects of art and culture was well as gender and cultural politics. Our study of the eighteenth-century during the first part of the course will provide a model and a set of questions applicable to other historical contexts. There will be a strong emphasis on questions of art historical methodology, on critical reading and discussion of issues/concepts presented in assigned readings on close examination of images, and on research and writing. Development of oral presentation skills, also a course objective.

Required Readings & Reserves (Electronic and otherwise)

Electronic Reserves (ARES)
Most of the assigned readings are available on-line via electronic reserve (ARES)
Some of them are on JSTOR and are accessible through the UF library catalogue as well ARES (Access ARES and JSTOR from the AFA website. You must be logged on through remote log on, VPN or from campus to access these sites. Let me know if you need instructions for remote log on.)

IF YOU HAVE PROBLEMS ACCESSING THE READINGS LET ME KNOW ASAP.

There will be a number of other books and films on standard reserve in the Architecture and Fine Arts Library for your reference. These are also listed on the ARES site for this course.

You will also find a file of “Background Reading” in Canvas, if you would need help with context for the eighteenth-century.

Seminar Format
This seminar will be offered in a HyFlex format: you may choose to attend in person, or via Zoom at this link: https://ufl.zoom.us/j/94116432146?pwd=VVVSeERWcGh5V3IyeE9kVkZWTmlJUT09

See “Health and Wellness” section below additional information concerning COVID

Part 1. The first two-thirds of the semester will be organized around a series of round-table discussions of selected images and readings, as well as short written and oral assignments.

Part 2. The last quarter of the semester will consist of completing a draft of a sustained research paper, a peer review and workshopping of that paper, and producing a short, conference-length version of this paper to be presented at the end as polished, conference-style talk.

Grading and Assignments
I calculate grades in this course using a point system. Participation and assignments have corresponding point values that add up to a maximum of 100. Point values for assignments are listed below. I use this scale in determining your final grade.

Grading Scale
- A 95-100 points
- A- 90-94
- B+ 85-89
- B 80-84
- B- 75-79
- C 70-74

Participation (20 points)
- Reading and Discussion: We will all get the most out of this seminar if everyone turns up for class (see Attendance Policy below) and is prepared to engage. To that end each member of the seminar is expected to read all the assigned essays for a given class. Close, informed discussion of the texts and images is a necessity for the success of the seminar; as is engaging one another in ideas and debate. Not completing the reading and/or failing to participate places a greater burden on others. I understand that other commitments can sometimes keep you from being able to read everything that is assigned. If this occurs, I recommend skimming or reading selections from each of the assigned materials so that you can participate at least minimally in seminar.

- In-class Peer Workshopping of Research Papers. Weeks 12 & 13 (Nov. 16 & 23) you will be asked to read and provide written feedback on each other's 20-25 page research papers. Two class meetings will consist of group discussion of these papers.

Class Provocation (10 points)
During Part I of the semester, we will begin with one student assigned to present questions, commentary or visual materials (for no more than 10 minutes), designed to provoke conversation concerning that day's readings. The goal is not to summarize the readings, but to highlight key arguments, ideas or questions. At the same time, the provocation should address all of the assigned materials individually and/or thematically.

Reading Abstracts (10 points)
Although provocateurs do not need to summarize the readings for class, they are required to write short abstracts/summaries of each of the readings (see Art Bulletin for examples of abstracts). These are to be submitted on Canvas before class meets.

Rococo Objects Share (10 points)
Each member of the seminar also will be asked to select and present for (brief) discussion (at least) two objects relevant to the themes of the seminar. These can be any kind of object from any period. Address whether your object aesthetically or stylistically rococo (from the 18th century), and if so, why it is of interest. Is your object a product of an atemporal “rococo” current or impulse. If so, how? Everyone will present (and interpret/analyze) objects twice during the semester.

Research Paper (30 points)
On a topic of your choosing, to be decided in consultation with me. A draft of this research paper is due Nov. 9. You will receive my comments on your draft the week before your oral presentation, along with a provisional grade. I will be meeting with each of you during week 6 to discuss topics/projects, but it is your responsibility to consult with me regularly. I expect for you to utilize some course material in addition to relevant scholarship you find on your own. The paper should be 20-25 pages long (double spaced, 12pt). Footnote and bibliography citations should be in the Chicago Manual of Style format, (the standard for Art History, see examples in publications such as Eighteenth-Century Studies.)

Oral Presentation of (Shortened) Research Paper (20 points)
The last two weeks of class meetings will consist of each student giving a polished, 20 minute conference-style presentation of their research. Three or four presentations will be scheduled for each class meeting.
Giving a conference-style talk means reading an (approximately) 10-page paper coordinated with a PowerPoint presentation of images. Presentations will be followed by 15 or so minutes of class discussion to be led by two other seminar members.

Course Policies and Other Important Information

Attendance

Our time together is precious and limited, therefore attendance at every class session is both extremely important and expected. You may miss one class meetings without influencing your grade. I do not need to be informed of why you are not in class, but if you must go beyond the limit, please do contact me. Every unexcused absence beyond the one allowed, will affect your final grade: 10 points will be deducted for each absence past the limit. In order to be counted as present you must arrive on time and stay until class concludes.

Requirements for class attendance and make-up exams, assignments, and other work in this course are consistent with university policies. Click here to read the university attendance policies.

Participation and Discussion Guidelines

You are required to bring course texts to class in either hard copy form, or on your laptop/tablet, as we will often read extensive excerpts of texts together. Failure to come to class with the reading will decrease your participation grade.

You are required to bring a notebook and writing utensil to class, as we will sometimes conduct writing and other creative exercises during lecture and discussion section time.

If needed, we will collectively determine additional community guidelines for seminar discussions.

Correspondence

I can answer questions via email. But please be aware that I receive a high volume of emails. If your query is time sensitive please indicate that in the subject line. Questions that require substantive engagement, such as commentary on an assignment, would be best addressed during office hours (please make an appointment with me). I will expect for you to check your UF email once a day in the event that there is a schedule change or if I need to send you important information. Class alerts will be sent via the Canvas system.

Accessibility and Classroom Accommodation

I am committed to making learning in this course accessible to all, and along with the UF Disability Resource Center (DRC) celebrate disability identity as a valued aspect of diversity. Please contact me to discuss any learning needs that you may have. Students requesting classroom accommodation should contact the (DRC) to request an accommodation letter. Academic Integrity & the University of Florida Student Honor Code

UF students are bound by The Honor Pledge, which states: “We, the members of the University of Florida community, pledge to hold ourselves and our peers to the highest standards of honor and integrity by abiding by the Honor Code. On all work submitted for credit by students at the University of Florida, the following pledge is either required or implied: ‘On my honor, I have neither given nor received unauthorized aid in doing this assignment.’”

The Conduct Code specifies a number of behaviors that are in violation of this code and the possible sanctions. Click here to read the Conduct Code. If you have any questions or concerns, please consult with the instructor.

Evaluations

Students are expected to provide professional and respectful feedback on the quality of instruction in this course by completing course evaluations online via GatorEvals. Guidance on how to give feedback in a professional and respectful manner is available at https://gatorevals.aa.ufl.edu/students/. Students will be notified when the evaluation period opens, and can complete evaluations through the email they receive from GatorEvals, in their Canvas course menu under GatorEvals, or via https://ufl.bluerca.com/ufl/.

Summaries of course evaluation results are available to students at https://gatorevals.aa.ufl.edu/public-results/.

COVID Related
In response to COVID-19, the following practices are in place to maintain your learning environment, to enhance the safety of our in-classroom interactions, and to further the health and safety of ourselves, our neighbors, and our loved ones.

- If you are not vaccinated, get vaccinated. Vaccines are readily available at no cost and have been demonstrated to be safe and effective against the COVID-19 virus. Visit this link for details on where to get your shot, including options that do not require an appointment: https://coronavirus.uflhealth.org/vaccinations/vaccine-availability/. Students who receive the first dose of the vaccine somewhere off-campus and/or outside of Gainesville can still receive their second dose on campus.

- You are expected to wear approved face coverings at all times during class and within buildings even if you are vaccinated. I can’t require you to wear a mask, but for the health and safety of your peers and their families, I encourage you to. Please understand the continuing concerns, and continue to follow healthy habits, including best practices like frequent hand washing. Following these practices is our responsibility as Gators.
  - Sanitizing supplies are available in the classroom if you wish to wipe down your desks prior to sitting down and at the end of the class.
  - Hand sanitizing stations will be located in every classroom.

- If you are sick, stay home and self-quarantine. Please visit the UF Health Screen, Test & Protect website about next steps, retake the questionnaire and schedule your test for no sooner than 24 hours after your symptoms began. Please call your primary care provider if you are ill and need immediate care or the UF Student Health Care Center at 352-392-1161 (or email covid@shcc.ufl.edu) to be evaluated for testing and to receive further instructions about returning to campus. UF Health Screen, Test & Protect offers guidance when you are sick, have been exposed to someone who has tested positive or have tested positive yourself. Visit the UF Health Screen, Test & Protect website for more information.
  - Course materials will be provided to you with an excused absence, and you will be given a reasonable amount of time to make up work.
  - If you are withheld from campus by the Department of Health through Screen, Test & Protect you are not permitted to use any on campus facilities. Students attempting to attend campus activities when withheld from campus will be referred to the Dean of Students Office.

- Continue to regularly visit coronavirus.uflhealth.org and coronavirus.ufl.edu for up-to-date information about COVID-19 and vaccination.
