Special Topic: National Parks+ Historic Sites

This syllabus is highly subject to change

“America’s Best Idea” is where we will begin our study of national parks and historic sites. We will examine key issues such as the power of public lands, cultural memory, indigeneity, and exploring the ways in which a historical narrative is constructed.

What is the history, purpose, and legacy of the national park system? In this course we ask what is the future of historic sites? We will explore the following via critical inquiry:

1. How do national parks differ from other parks at the state, local levels?
2. What environmental opportunities exist in their management, funding, use, and access of national parks?
3. Who determines park policy? Who and what is the National Park Service, and why did Congress establish the NPS fifty years after creating the first park at Yosemite?
4. What is America’s attitude toward greenspaces and why does it matter?
5. Are historic sites still relevant?

Course Objectives

Students will:

- Understand how the history of national parks and historic sites are extensions of museum praxis
- Examine how memory, public lands, and historical narratives impact perspectives on museums and museum-going in a contemporary world;
- Engage with current theoretical debates in the field regarding national parks and historic sites and consider how they are impacting museum practice in the ways of collections, collections management, preservation, etc;
- Understand the organization and operation of national parks and historic sites today and their role in a society that struggles to embrace a Green New Deal, acceptance of Global Warming/Climate change, and more;
- Situates indigenous narratives and histories as central to historic lands and historic sites
- Recognize the relationship between disciplinary and cultural shifts and their resonance in museum practice as it relates to national parks and historic sites;
- Engage with current literature in the field as it relates to current issues and opportunities in national parks and historic sites;
- Develop professional writing and presentation skills for museum praxis

CRITICAL PEDAGOGY

I believe deeply in critical pedagogy and critical inquiry. In the Digital and Information Age, this is the foundation of intellectual and academic excellence.

We will employ an Inquiry-based learning model in this course (IBL). What is Inquiry? Inquiry is the vital skillset of asking questions to obtain, evaluate, and acquire knowledge. Inquiry-based learning allows you to:

- Make cross-course connections
- Increase engagement with course material
- More deeply connect theories and principles
- Critically analyze, synthesize, and evaluate varying bodies of knowledge and information content
- Engage in powerful dialogue with your peers and professor even when you disagree

Good, solid inquiry is based on two principles: 1) Active Inquiry and 2) Active Listening. Consider these two actions your most important tasks this semester.
Active Inquiry

Here are some general guidelines for my expectations of how you will use the language of Inquiry to pose critical questions to one another. (Although, please rest assured that there is no expectation for some of the language to be this formal).

Here are some types of questions that tend to facilitate thoughtful, sustained discussions:

Analysis

Questions beginning with “Why…” “How would you explain…” “What is the importance of…” “What is the meaning of”

- Example: What is the meaning of Madame X’s comment about Jacque’s activities the week before their encounter at the opera?

Compare and Contrast

“Compare…” “Contrast…” “What is the difference between…” “What is the similarity between…”

- Example: What is the difference between the mother and the father’s attitudes toward the daughter’s relationship with Philippe?

Cause and Effect

“What are the causes/results of…” “What connection is there between…”

- Example: What is the cause of Lea’s distress when she looks at herself in the mirror?

Clarification

“What is meant by…” “Explain how…”

I would also like to point out that the basis of seminar is that we are all in direct communication with the entire body of literature in museum studies. We should be mindful that we are to constantly be in conversation with every work that we read. Therefore, another powerful technique is to reference the readings and their authors as a way to increase connections between works so that key terms, principles, themes, frameworks, theories, and ideologies are centered in our conversations.

The reality is that I will not have all of the “answers”; neither will you. However, collectively we have a powerful brain trust that is a force for change in our field to be reckoned with.
Please consider and refer to this classic skillset for Effective Listening (What I call Active Listening).

COVID

Covid protocols are ever-changing, please vigorously consult this UF website to receive updated information about Covid guidelines:

Course Attendance

Pre Covid, here is what I would have begun with regarding attendance:

Attendance and participation are critical components of this course and your success. If, for some reason, you are unable to be in class please let me know in advance via email. If a crisis or life-threatening emergency has occurred; please alert me as soon as possible after your absence should advance notice not be feasible. Please note that in many cases accompanying documentation might be required. More than three absences will impact your participation grade. A point will be deducted for each additional absence. Upon noticeable absences; I will call for a one-on-one meeting.

Additionally, I mark attendance by your being fully present physically, cognitively, and intellectually. Showing up, weighing in, and making powerfully creative and significant contributions to course discussion can greatly contribute to the success of your final grade in the course.

Here is how Covid impacts my attendance policy:

Self-preservation, caregiving, and resilience have become the tools we must employ to thrive and practice our best response to safety in these times. While it is my expectation that you adhere to the above; taking care of yourself is a priority. Therefore, if you are feeling ill or concerned that you might have been exposed to Covid-19, please do not hesitate to adhere to the on-going UF policies regarding Covid.

A Word on Timeliness

Students are expected to be on time and prepared to begin at 10:40 AM. When the class is meeting at a site other than the classroom please arrive at least 10 minutes prior. Students should also familiarize themselves with the institutions we are visiting and the biographies or careers of the people that we will be meeting with. Students should also prepare questions for the speakers in advance of these classes.

Classroom Conduct

The relational landscape of a classroom is an important factor in creating an energetic learning environment. I want us to be energized; always. The most conducive way to achieve this landscape is to practice empathy. There are a myriad of definitions for “empathy”. I offer that empathy in the university classroom has two goals:

1. Helping students understand how seeking to make connections with the unfamiliar/their own information gaps can transform their learning experience

I believe that museums can change the world; but we need empathetic, inspired museum workers to do so. Empathy is a way for us to understand how others are feeling even when it does not make sense to us. There are at least three types of empathy: 1) Cognitive, 2) Emotional, and 3) Compassionate. As such, I ask that you maintain this basic classroom behavior for our greatest possible learning experience:

Students should dress, behave, and treat their fellow students and instructor with professionalism. This includes giving them your full attention, not speaking over others, and respectfully responding to others’ ideas or comments.
All of us will have differing opinions about a plethora of subjects. We can agree to disagree. Please do not deflate another’s joy or passion for a subject simply because you do not share the same viewpoints. Higher education has room for variety of thought.

Pronouns

My pronouns are She/Her. I recognize the fact that pronouns are not preferences; they just are. Please feel free to alert us what your pronouns are. There is the full expectation that as a class group we are respectful of all pronouns that we have been directed to use as a collective. In return, there is the expectation that allowing for proper/correct use of directed pronouns come with possible learning curves for some as they adjust to that notion grammatically.
Canvas

The (printed) syllabus is highly subject to change. More detailed information on assignments, weekly readings, and schedules, along with the complete syllabus will be posted on the Canvas site for this class. Canvas will serve as the most current resource for the class.

Students are responsible for consulting the site for the latest information regularly.

Museums are places for debate and conversations about important issues facing us today and in the past. Current issues that are near-crisis point in museums include: structural racism, repatriation, single-use plastics/environmental stewardship, pay wages, and more. The class will also be a place for similar debate and discussion. At times we will be discussing sensitive topics. It is essential that students are respectful of each other’s viewpoints and comments. We will also be learning what might be new language and frameworks. I encourage you to be comfortable with being uncomfortable. Similarly, I encourage students to speak with me if they feel upset, unsafe, and unheard based on the discussions or atmosphere in class. I welcome the opportunity to shore up any issues of safety, inclusion, empathy, etc.

Course Evaluation

Students are expected to provide feedback on the quality of instruction in this course by completing online evaluations at https://evaluations.ufl.edu.

Students are expected to provide professional and respectful feedback on the quality of instruction in this course by completing course evaluations online via GatorEvals. Guidance on how to give feedback in a professional and respectful manner is available at gatorevals.aa.ufl.edu/students/. Students will be notified when the evaluation period opens, and can complete evaluations through the email they receive from GatorEvals, in their Canvas course menu under GatorEvals, or via ufl.bluera.com/ufl/. Summaries of course evaluation results are available to students at gatorevals.aa.ufl.edu/public-results/.

Plagiarism and the Honor Code

On all work submitted for credit by students at the University of Florida, the following pledge is either required or implied:

“On my honor, I have neither given nor received unauthorized aid in doing this assignment”.

This includes plagiarism, which includes but is not limited to:
1. Quoting oral or written materials including but not limited to those found on the internet, whether published or unpublished, without proper attribution.

2. Submitting a document or assignment which in whole or in part is identical or substantially identical to a document or assignment not authored by the student.

For more on plagiarism and the honor code see:

https://www.dso.ufl.edu/sccr/process/student-conduct-honor-code/

Privacy

Students are allowed to record video or audio of class lectures. However, the purposes for which these recordings may be used are strictly controlled.

The only allowable purposes are:

(1) for personal educational use

(2) in connection with a complaint to the university, or

(3) as evidence in, or in preparation for, a criminal or civil proceeding. All other purposes are prohibited.

Specifically, students may not publish recorded lectures without the written consent of the instructor. A “class lecture” is an educational presentation intended to inform or teach enrolled students about a particular subject, including any instructor-led discussions that form part of the presentation, and delivered by any instructor hired or appointed by the University, or by a guest instructor, as part of a University of Florida course.

A class lecture does not include lab sessions, student presentations, clinical presentations such as patient history, academic exercises involving solely student participation, assessments (quizzes, tests, exams), field trips, private conversations between students in the class or between a student and the faculty or lecturer during a class session. Publication without permission of the instructor is prohibited. To “publish” means to share, transmit, circulate, distribute, or provide access to a recording, regardless of format or medium, to another person (or persons), including but not limited to another student within the same class section.

Additionally, a recording, or transcript of a recording, is considered published if it is posted on or uploaded to, in whole or in part, any media platform, including but not limited to social media, book, magazine, newspaper, leaflet, or third party note/tutoring services. A student who publishes a recording without written consent may be subject to a civil cause of action.
instituted by a person injured by the publication and/or discipline under UF Regulation 4.040 Student Honor Code and Conduct Code.

10-12 page Essay (Select an urgent topic regarding national parks and museums) (Week 12)

Ken Burns documentary analysis (3-5 5 pages) select dates

Weekly Presentation 10 points each (total of 10)

Group Presentation 100 points

*Additional dates and assignment details available on Canavs

How to Submit Deliverables

The submission process for the course is fairly simple:
Written assignments should use 1.5 spacing, 12 point font in Times New Roman, edited for proper grammar and spelling and stylized for Chicago or APA.

Submitting Assignment—Written assignments and presentation PowerPoints should be uploaded to Canvas by 11:59pm the day they are due. They MUST also be submitted by hardcopy in class (except PP).

Student Resources & Accommodations

Students with disabilities requesting accommodations should first register with the Disability Resource Center (352-392-8565, www.dso.ufl.edu/drc/) by providing appropriate documentation. Once registered, students will receive an accommodation letter which must be presented to the instructor when requesting accommodation. Students with disabilities should follow this procedure as early as possible in the semester.

The Writing Studio

The writing studio is committed to helping University of Florida students meet their academic and professional goals by becoming better writers. Visit the writing studio online at http://writing.ufl.edu/writing-studio/ or in 302 Tigert Hall for one-on-one consultations and workshops.

Connecting with Dr. Moore

In keeping with the mission and vision of the program and my own research and professional ethics, it is my work to meet strategically with the arts, cultural, and museum community to better identify partners, allies, accomplices, and opportunities for you, myself, and the program. The large implications of this means that I am likely to be in and around campus; but not always in my office. But never fear!

Here are some easy, effective ways that we can remain connected and partnered for you success:

1. Check the syllabus and check it twice
2. Identify a peer partner in class to ask any additional questions, collaborate, etc.
3. Come to my office hours. Seriously, come! These hours are set aside explicitly to meet with students. It is the best way to speak with me.
4. Email me. Please allow 24-48 hours for a response. Please do NOT use the Canvas email; just my pmoore@arts@ufl.edu. I am likely not going to respond to email over the course of the weekend but please expect responses over the course of the week.

5. Make an appointment with me. I am a hiker. I love nature and outdoors. I am game to walk the campus with you. Meet you at the library or some other fave spot on campus. Or, here in my office. It is your choice and a great option for fresh, engaging places to talk.

6. Meeting with me after class works as well as long as the questions do not require serious research or timely explanation on my end.

I love writing letters of recommendations for my students. Love! However, I have some hard and fast rules for this privileged action.
Here they are:

1. Be outstanding. Demonstrate your intellectual and professional acumen in and outside of class.
2. Ask for the letter a minimum of ONE MONTH in advance of the deadline.
3. Include information about the position, internship, academic opportunity, etc. that you are applying for. If there are specific highlights that you want me to include please clearly identify those things and make your case for how they are apropos in my letter.
4. Include your CV and any additional sparks of interest that are suitable for the letter. Be specific.
5. Clearly state the deadline and how the letter should be submitted.
6. Gentle reminders leading up to the deadline are critical!
7. Thank you for allowing me to be a part of your academic and professional journey.
