University of Florida Spring 2022

Time: 2nd & 3rd Periods (8:30-10:25) Days: M/W

Office Hours: By appointment

COURSE DESCRIPTION
The particular focus is experiencing a visceral, sensual connection to heightened text. Students are taught that there is no standard, correct ‘sound’ for actors to use in speaking Shakespeare and other classic texts that do not call for a particular regional accent. Actors will experience Kristin Linklater’s Sound & Movement series as developed from “Freeing Shakespeare’s Voice”. In conjunction with their acting coursework, actors will apply these skills to Shakespearean sonnets, and monologues.

Course Statement to disrupt race, class, sexual orientation discrimination:
“Diverse languages and dialects are welcome in this classroom. As we communicate with one another, keep in mind that the reader/listener should work as hard as the writer/speaker in the communication process. This means that we will listen patiently, work to understand one another, seek out clarification when necessary and avoid finishing each other's sentences or correcting grammatical errors unless invited to do so.”

COURSE OBJECTIVES
• Experience a free body, voice, and emotions when speaking classical text. (by “free” I mean: open to creative impulse, spontaneous, powerful, vulnerable and capable of a range of expression.)
• Re-examine the tools, techniques and the current classical canon employed in the industry and reframe them through an inclusive cultural lens.
• Learn empowering information to respond to requests of sounds needing to be “fixed”
• Develop your actor’s process including considerations of awareness, judgment, discipline, curiosity, and a whole-self approach to creative work
• Learn to use evocative research as a part of your actor’s process
• Apply the work in performance (both in class and in outside projects)

LEARNING OUTCOMES
• To apply skills of intelligibility using your own accent
• To hone your ability to find clues in Shakespeare’s texts and increase your range of textually supported physical, vocal and acting choices.
• To recognize rhetorical structures and employ tools to navigate complex poetic language.
• To identify, score and perform the sounds, rhythm and meter of heightened language.

COURSE OVERVIEW
To restore the connection of language to the body by using Kristin Linklater’s series of sound and movement exercises. To continue the re-circuiting of sensory experiences to oral communication. and to explore Louis Colaianni’s phonetic pillows which aims to teach the actor to be ultra-verbal: to simultaneously experience language in tactile, auditory and imagistic ways; indeed, to savor the tastes and smells of language. Voice exercises address adding breath capacity, calling, yelling, upper range resonance, and connecting the voice bottom to top. With these voice and speech skills we will examine the structure of Shakespeare’s verse and explore the elements of language that bring his text to life, such as antithesis, alliteration, laddering, and the use of rhetoric. Through improvisational group work and one-on-one monologue work the class aims to increase the actor’s ability to fully and pleasurably embody the demands and joys of Shakespeare’s text.

Grading
Class Participation/Professionalism 20% (punctuality, communication, attitude)
Conceptual Information 45% (homework, quizzes, blogs, papers)
Midterm 15% (level of progress in voice skills, application of acting skills, and text skills)
Final Performance 20% (level of progress in voice skills, application of acting skills, and text skills)

Class Participation and Professionalism
20% of your grade for this class is based on your participation and Professionalism in discussion and the physical explorations.

Participating in the physical component of the class, means having a positive and rigorous attitude with exploring new work. In other words, resistance to change or negative attitudes towards the work or feedback from the instructor is not participating. It means arriving early, suited up, and ready to move right when class starts.

Participating in discussion does not necessarily mean talking a lot or showing everyone else that you know or have studied a lot. ‘Good discussion’ participation involves trying to build on, and synthesize, the physical experience that has transpired. It also involves showing, respect and appreciation for others’ comments and contributions and learning how to “agree to disagree”.

If you find yourself talking a lot in the feedback sessions, some of the most helpful things you can do are allow for a quiet interlude. Learning to live with unanswered questions is a valuable skill as an actor/artist.

Skills that define a Professional Attitude are:
Demonstrate empathy, integrity, honesty, good interpersonal skills, curiosity, courage, and desire for change.
Ability to adapt to a working environment that is both rigorous and demanding.
Ability to show flexibility to changes.
Ability to function in the face of uncertainties questions and stresses, which are inherent in the training and artistic process, as well as the profession.
Ability and willingness to respond physically to appropriate verbal and tactile cues given by their teachers.
Acknowledgment that the work is the discipline and self-discipline will lead to the attainment of one’s goals.

Mistakes to Avoid:
Refusing to Ask for Help
Not Being Able to Handle Feedback
Gossiping
Being Afraid to Make Mistakes
Not Admitting You Made a Mistake
Having a Bad Attitude
Not Learning from Your Classmates
Not Being Prepared
Comparing your Artistic Journey to Other’s Journey’s
