Text: Course reading materials available on E-Learning
The work from Drawing STUDIO will be graded on specific criteria defined by individual project goals. All projects will be graded on their success in the following areas: concept development, excellent design decisions, craftsmanship, risk-taking, experimentation, ambition, and meeting deadlines. These same guidelines apply to the sketchbook which also must be finished within the specified deadlines.

EVALUATION
The course grade for each student will be evaluated on the basis of:

- The completion and success of all in class and out of class exercises and drawings.
- Completion of all assigned readings and discussions.
- Attendance at all assigned field trips and lectures.
- Research – the conceptual tools you employ to inform your practice.
- Technical competence, craft, and inventive use of materials.
- Presentation – all work should be presented in a finished and professional manner.
- Effort, hard work, and a diligent, consistent effort toward excellence.

Late projects will not be accepted.

Project grades in this course are considered in the following way:

A  4.0 Exceptional work, all criteria of assignment have been surpassed in a distinguished manner and solutions to problems presented exhibit a depth of understanding. In addition, student is engaged in exceptional studio practice, which includes active research, looking up artists recommended, asking relevant questions about other artists’ works or ideas, and being thoroughly engaged in the course content.

A- 3.67 Well-presented, superior work: all criteria of assignment were surpassed in a distinguished manner (including exceptional studio practice highlighted above). Minimal improvements could be made to the project overall.

B+ 3.33 Very good work: all criteria of assignment were surpassed, minor changes could be considered and executed to bring piece together and studio practice was exceptional.

B  3.0 Very good work: above average solutions and clear potential. Most criteria of assignment were surpassed with some improvements to be made. Execution was well done. Studio practice during the project was commendable.

B- 2.67 Good work: most criteria of assignment were met. Work showed promise with a few significant improvements to be made. Studio practice was adequate.

C+ 2.33 Slightly above average: work, most of the criteria of the assignment were met. The work is not yet a unified whole or cohesive statement, yet effort was made. Studio practice was adequate but could be more reflective and thoughtful.

C- 2.67 Slightly below average work: the assignment directions were followed and the requirements were minimally met, but there is much room for developing assignment’s concepts further. The level of craft and breadth and depth of idea development needs to be improved. There is some evidence of studio practice, but the quality and quantity is lacking.

C  2.0 Average work: the assignment directions were followed, and the requirements were met in a relatively routine way. Slippage in levels of craft, originality and presentation-studio practice was adequate, but could be more reflective and thoughtful.

C- 2.67 Slightly below average work: the assignment directions were followed, and the requirements were minimally met, but there is much room for developing assignment’s concepts further. The level of craft and breadth and depth of idea development needs to be improved. There is some evidence of studio practice, but the quality and quantity are lacking.
Unexcused absences will be cause for a lowered grade. Your fourth absence will result in ONE grade drop. Absences will be counted from the first class meeting onward. Appropriate documentation from the student health service should be obtained for medical excuses. In general, acceptable reasons for absence from class include illness, serious family emergencies, special curricular requirements (e.g., judging trips, field trips, professional conferences), military obligation, severe weather conditions, religious holidays and participation in official university activities such as music performances, athletic competition or debate. Absences from class for court-imposed legal obligations (e.g., jury duty or subpoena) must be excused. Other sound reasons may be offered.

If an absence occurs it is the student’s responsibility to make up all work. Students should check with the instructor or another student outside of class time when they miss a class (prior to missing the class if possible), as in- and out-of-class exercises are spontaneously assigned. Students should bring a doctor’s note for any class from which they expect to be excused. Please address any concerns, problems, and questions regarding this class to the instructor as they arise.

TARDINESS: Arrival to class after start of class will be noted and three such incidences will count as one absence. Leaving early from class will also be considered as tardiness, and will be counted as such.

Students are responsible for satisfying all academic objectives as defined by the instructor. Students who do not attend at least one of the first two class meetings of a course or laboratory in which they are registered, and who have not contacted the department to indicate their intent, may be dropped from the course. The university recognizes the right of the individual professor to make attendance mandatory. After due warning, professors may prohibit further attendance and subsequently assign a failing grade for excessive absences.

LATE WORK: All projects, reading responses, and research projects must be completed on time for full credit. Due dates are announced in class. Failure to complete any work on time will result in a drop of one full letter grade for each day it is late. If the time line states that a project is due at the beginning of class, turning it in at the end or after class is considered late. You must have work finished before the start of class on critique days or your work will not be critiqued and your project grade will be lowered. It is the student’s responsibility to turn in all work on time. Full participation by showing completed work during all critiques is required along with active participation through shared ideas and commentary.

CLASS COMMUNICATIONS: Students must check their school email accounts regularly. Students are responsible for any information, deadlines, and updates emailed to their webmail accounts.

CELL PHONES: Students in the School of Art and Art History will not be permitted to have cell phones turned on in class. If it beeps, chimes, rings or makes any type of noise, turn it off before entering the classroom. Continuous cell phone disruptions will result in lowered grades.

UNIVERSITY POLICY FOR RELIGIOUS HOLIDAYS: The Board of Regents and state law govern university policy regarding observance of religious holidays: Students, upon prior notification of their instructors, shall be excused from class or other scheduled academic activity to observe a religious holy day of their faith. Students shall be permitted a reasonable amount of time to make up the material or activities covered in their absence. Students shall not be penalized due to absence from class or other scheduled academic activity because of religious observances. Further, a student who is to be excused from class for a religious holy day is not required to provide a second party certification of the reasons for the absence.

UNIVERSITY ILLNESS POLICY: Students who are absent from classes or examinations because of illness should contact their professors. If you’re unable to attend class due to illness, please email the teacher prior to class meeting time. Please state your name, class, as well as the reason you will not be attending class that day.

GUIDELINES FOR USE OF CAMPUS FACILITIES AND GROUNDS

SHARED STUDIO: Please leave the studio clean. Regardless of the condition you find it in, we request that you leave it clean for the next person. Remember to place all work in progress on the storage shelves. Leave the work tables clear and clean. This is a shared studio and we all need to work together to keep it a clean and productive environment.

STUDIO PRACTICE: The instructor and the School of Art and Art History are not responsible for student work left in workspaces, installation spaces, the critique space, the shops, or the classrooms. Projects/materials are not to be stored in the group working space. Each student is responsible for ensuring that his/her projects and materials are safely stored, displayed, installed, and removed from the classroom and critique space. Projects must be set up and removed from the critique space at the times and spaces designated for each project.

POLICIES REGARDING BEHAVIOR IN LECTURES, CLASSROOMS, STUDIOS & OTHER INSTRUCTIONAL SPACES: Please make every effort to maintain the facilities and grounds of the WARPhaus, the School of Art and Art History, the College of Fine Arts and The University of Florida. Specifically we ask that you follow these guidelines:

1. Do not mark, paint on or deface any interior or exterior of the school or college facilities. Take care to always use protective tarps, drop cloths or masking material when working with paint media or similar materials to protect the floors in public spaces such as hallways and classrooms. That applies also to the sidewalks, walls, and grounds.

2. If a special project requires temporary modification to a wall surface or to the grounds you must obtain specific permission from your instructor prior to undertaking the project. The site must be returned to its original condition immediately following the project unless prior written permission has been obtained from the School of Art and Art History.

3. No Art project may interfere with or impede access to, classrooms, hallways or other public spaces.

4. All site-specific art projects must be installed and engineered with the safety of the general public in mind.

5. Grades will not be issued for the project, or the class, until the project has been completely removed, and the site has been restored to its original condition.

6. Failure to comply with these rules will result in disciplinary action, withholding of grades, the possible lowering of a grade, or failure of the course.
"Students requesting classroom accommodation must first register with the Dean of Students Office. The Dean of Students Office will provide documentation to the student who must then provide this documentation to the Instructor when requesting accommodation."

GUIDELINES FOR WORK IN THE SURROUNDING COMMUNITY

Proper care should be taken in order to assure all property in the surrounding area is respected and well maintained, and projects should be executed with public health and safety in mind. Vandalism of any kind will not be tolerated. As on campus, students doing site-specific work off-campus will be legally and financially accountable for any illegal or destructive actions. In addition, projects involving the greater community should be carefully considered and faculty must be consulted throughout. All public projects must be cleared by faculty and permission granted. Remember, that the School of Art and Art History at The University of Florida retains the power to require a more appropriate solution to any project that may violate any of the guidelines outlined above.

Please do not litter or leave materials out in the area. Respect property, surrounding businesses and the rights of individuals in the community. Failure to comply with these rules will result in disciplinary action, withholding of grades, the possible lowering of a grade, or failure of the course.

WEEK 3
Jan 18
In class drawing: Still-life with simple shapes and planes. You will draw from a classroom set up. Use a pencil or dowel to develop your measuring technique.

In class drawing and homework: Start a drawing of a photocopy of a master painting or drawing that you brought to class. Tape a piece of tracing paper directly atop the photocopy and do a composition study, simplifying the positive and negative shapes and using simple tonal characterization to differentiate them from each other. As you assemble the shapes next to each other, erase and revise to obtain accurate contours, fitting the whole together like a jigsaw puzzle. Try to duplicate the balance of the composition. Complete the drawing

In class drawing and homework: Using a second reproduction, preparing the photocopy and tracing paper as before, begin by drawing only negative shapes, defining the objects in the image by the leftover spaces. Start with the largest areas and work toward laying in the small shapes that define larger shapes or large shapes that can be divided into smaller components. Complete the drawing.
Time: One class period and homework (hand in after one week).
Jan 20
Lecture 3: Form: Organic Mark and Form & Complex mark: hatching, line weight, texture, gesture, line quality, contour, organic form, elliptical contour, cross contour.

In class drawing #1 exercise 3.1 Fill five pages with direct emotion based lines that are full of feeling. First state the emotion and then develop lines that express that emotion. After you complete the drawings tack them to the wall and we will have a group critique and analyze how successful you have been. Time: 1/2 class period

In class drawing #2 exercise 3.6

WEEK 4
Lecture 4 Form: Geometric Mark and Form.

In class drawing: exercise 4.1 Bring six natural forms or printed pictures of natural forms which have different types of radial structure. Make a drawing of each one in which you try to convey the power or force that its form suggests: extension, compression, expansion, growth and so on. Time: One class period

Jan 25
In class drawing: exercise 4.3 Draw the classroom set up of a still life made of chairs, furniture and other geometric objects arranged in a chaotic pile. Time: One class period

Jan 27
Lecture 5 Space: objects, surfaces + space

In class drawing: exercise 5.1 Draw one of several small still life compositions that are in the room. You will focus on how light interacts with the objects, their surfaces and edges. Time: One class period

WEEK 5
Feb 1
In class drawing: exercise 5.4 vanishing point, still life
Draw a series still lives using rectangular forms such as boxes and cubes. The goal is to find the specific vanishing point for each rectangular form. Time: One class period

Feb 3
In class drawing: exercise 5.6 exaggerated perspective (china marker or ebony pencil).
Set up to draw a scene in or around the AFA library from an unusual vantage point. The most accessible and dramatic view would be from the floor level, or from the top of a study Carroll, or the balcony. Time: One class period

WEEK 6
Feb 8
In class drawing: exercise 5.8 perspective textures Day 1 large drawing, 30 x 40in, (working on the wall, compressed charcoal). Bring to class a photograph of an architectural space with simple forms. Pin your large paper on the wall with enough room on either side to project the vanishing points of your buildings. Sketch the basic outlines of the buildings or walls in your subject onto the drawing, and project estimated vanishing points to the horizon. Continue to develop your drawing.

In class drawing: exercise 6.1 Textures in Natural Objects (size 18 x 18in to 18 x 24in)
Collect and study the surfaces and textures of several natural objects such as bones, gnarled wood, pine cones, coral, rocks and so on

Feb 22
In class drawing: exercise 6.4 Atmospheric Perspective to Create Space (vine charcoal). This drawing should show how light can reveal the structure of forms and establish a sense of space. You want to bring together your knowledge of creating volume through light and shadow with the ideas of atmospheric perspective.
Time: one class period

Feb 24
In class drawing: exercise 6.5 abstract shapes in merging lights and shadows. This still life drawing must have 5 distinct values. In addition you will tone your paper with a mid-tone of vine charcoal. You want the lights and shadows to fill the page and go off the edges. Erase out the light shapes and darken the darker values.
Time: one class period

WEEK 9
March 1
Lecture Topic 7 - Value: idea and response
In class drawing: exercise 7.1 experimenting with value proportions. Do five quick studies. Draw the still lives with a full range of values from the white of the page to the densest dark you can develop. Experiment with the shape characters, pushing some to be harsher than they really are and some softer in edge than they appear.
Time: one class period

March 3
In class drawing: alt exercise large scale drawing of a single eye. In this drawing you look in a mirror and only focus on one eye. You can experiment with dramatic lighting or simply use the existing classroom light. Make the drawing as detailed as possible.
Time: one class period

WEEK 10
MARCH 5 TO MARCH 12b SPRING BREAK
WEEK 11
March 15
In class drawing: alt exercise Full face portrait looking directly at your reflection. You should strive to have a clear emotional overtone with this drawing. Use light and dark and rhythms that might suggest emotion and energy. Do you want high drama with contrasting light and shadows or a subtle effect with softer indirect light?

March 24
Lecture Topic 8: Composition and Expression
In class drawing: Make 2 12 x 18in drawings of two compositional variations of an interior space in which you alter the proportions of the basic division of the rectangle. Think about the implication of each composition in relation to ideas of movement, confinement, pressure, interval or other qualities relating to the viewers experience of space.
Class time: one class period

WEEK 13
March 29
Dynamic Tension:The Jungle-exercise 10.4 in the pond by FAA (ink of charcoal)
In class drawing: Using the fauna around the pond area by FAA and find a place to set up your drawing horse. Your subject should be fairly complex with a variety of shapes made by leaves, branches, flowers, rocks , etc. There should also be a role for strong light, particularly light coming from behind and through the objects. The drawing should be 20 x 30in.
Class time: one class period

March 31
Elements of Drawing Composition and Expression
Exercise 10.10 Day 1 frontage and imprint, photo transfer and printed textures/rubbings, stamping.
In class drawing: The goal of this assignment is to create a composition that works with textural transparency and layers to suggest a layered sediment of memory, like a pictorial version of an archaeological dig. The drawing should give a sense of integrated complexity and richness built up over time.
Class time: one class period (day 1)

WEEK 14
April 5
Exercise 10.10 Day 2 frontage and imprint , photo transfer and printed textures/rubbings, stamping.

Class time: one class period

April 14
Exercise: series project Redraw a drawing you’ve developed an interest in during the semester. It should be a drawing reproduced in a book; a computer image will not work. Redraw the drawing to discover how the artist made it and how the artist felt. Think through the process before you touch any material. Make two drawings that are your evolution of/from/with the first drawing. All three will be presented for the final critique.

WEEK 15
April 19
FINAL CRITIQUE

ART 2352C DRAWING STUDIO SPRING 2022 REQUIRED SKETCHBOOK PROJECTS

Sketchbook projects are due weekly, these are out of class homework assignments that build upon our in class work. Due each Tuesday, sketchbooks will be bull clipped opened to the current project and presented for review at the beginning of class.

| Sketchbook Due Date | Visual Chronicle: For two full days, record with drawings and words your experience every hour of your awake time. Using both sides of the page, divide each page into 6 or 8 rectangles and fill one rectangle each hour. If you are in geometry class for one hour and the teacher would consider it rude, go to class early, draw before class, and stay late and draw again. In other words, if there is an hour you cannot record, you need to make up that time slot. Your goal is to be visually engaged with your world at all times. You can draw what you observe, what you are thinking, what you are imagining, your dreams, and so on. Be certain to carry your book with you everywhere you go to class, meals, the library, on the phone, the store, the bathroom, car, church, bed, wherever you go, it goes. The drawings can be quick or developed. The important thing is to be aware of where you are and what you are thinking and respond to what you are doing and what you see. Get it down visually. Do not worry what the drawings look like or fuss over them. You are beginning to develop a habit, and your skill will develop as you go.

Now let’s focus something more specific and find more nuances within in. Choose a route you walk every day. It can be walking from your dorm room to the library, from your apartment to your coffee shop, or walking with your dog. Choose a route that you’re familiar with and that takes 5 to 10 min. to accomplish. In three different days this week, walk this route, but take one hour instead of five to ten minutes. Pausing along the way to record something of interest to you. Continue walking, pause again to draw, and again and again. Force yourself to take one hour even if it means that at the end of the walk you have drawn every inch. |

Due Week 4
Jan 25

Shape Composition: Make a series of studies of interiors (3 x 4”) with or without figures. Begin each sketch with a rectangle representing the edges of your composition. Reduce the composition to its most basic shapes and lay these in before proceeding further, adjusting their forms until they make a strong design. Add smaller shapes, fitting them into those already there. Add tone or detail, retaining a strong role for the shape.

Sketchbook: Eyeballing
Practice eyeballing angles and proportions of receding rectangles, checking your measurements with the dowel technique. Remember that the further of two equal edges will seem smaller. See if you can construct believable receding planes in your sketchbook based on the principles studied.

Due Week 5
Sketchbook and Out of Class Drawing
Feb 1

Composing with a viewfinder
Working from a preexisting situation, such as a landscape or interior, use your viewfinder to identify three compositions with strong shape structure, both positive and negative. Make small (4-5) studies of each one, breaking the rectangle into tonal shapes with strong contours that divide the composition in an interesting way. Move the viewfinder closer to your eyes to enlarge the section of the scene you are taking or farther to shrink it. Try vertical or horizontal compositions. Your sketches must be the same orientation and proportional dimensions as the viewfinder. Look for proportional balance, or interesting imbalance, in the division of the frame. Focus on active negative shapes and clearly defined shape structure in the objects in the composition. The first step is to work with your eyes, moving the viewfinder, looking as different aspects of the scene.

From the 4-5 studies choose the best of your compositions and base a larger drawing (18 x 24”) on it, using your sketch to lay-in the basic forms before returning to direct observation for added detail and texture. Make sure your larger drawing corresponds proportionally to the dimensions of your viewfinder and sketch.

Due Week 6, Sketchbook
Feb 8

Compositional Notes: Make a series of five small (4 x 5) compositional studies of scenes from life. As you begin each study, use only quick indicational lines or simple shapes, piecing the ‘web’ of the composition together. Do not worry whether the drawing would be legible to anyone else; think of it as note taking for you. Try to convey the reality of the arrangement of forms you are look at it as a whole rather than concentrating on the details.

Compositional Notes Part 2: Make a series of five more compositional studies that use comparison of scale relationships leading to the horizon to establish a sense of great space. Remember that the most effective scale comparisons often involve objects of similar size: trees, phone poles, houses, etc. Try to find situations in which the trail of objects leads toward the horizon, which should be perfectly horizontal.

Elliptical Head Sketches: Do a series of drawings of the back of the heads of people in a cafeteria, lecture hall or other public space. Use elliptical contours to define the forms of the skull, ears, hair, shoulders and so on. Try to link your contours to the rounded volume of the forms, exaggerating if necessary.
| Due Week 7
| Sketchbook

| Finding Space in a Painting x 3  |
| Find a painting, drawing or print at the Harn that is more than just a single building or room. There should be plenty of corners, intervals, and dimensions to explore. Step back from the image and make a drawing from the artwork using the angles measured with an L ruler technique just practiced in class. The goal is not to reproduce the detail but to accurately assess and re-create the relationships between forms that are functioning to make the space in the picture. Repeat this exercise three times. |

| Finding Vanishing Points  |
| Although vanishing lines are abstract entities within perspective drawing, sometimes it is possible to find them or something that looks like them in the real world. Find ten examples of vanishing point structures on campus or in Gainesville proper. They will most likely occur where two parallel linear objects – street curbs, railings, edges of a building, tracks or floorboards—are receding sharply into the distance. You will not always see the vanishing point where the lines come together; they could stop short. Follow the lines out anyway and place the point on the horizon. Add some other elements of the scene to enhance the experience of the space. |

| Changing Natural Light  |
| Do several quick value studies of the same large object (such as an automobile, a tree or boulder) outside at different times of the day. Choose a clear sunny day and find an object that will be in place throughout the day. Determine whether your object is transparent, translucent or opaque and how that quality affects the light and shadows. In your sketchbook, draw the object and the changing natural light as seen from the north, east, south, and west of the object, every two hours from 7 am to 7 pm. Notice any change in intensity of reflectance as the light changes. As you move from north to east to south to west, note the dramatic changes in light, for instance, the silhouetting of the object if the sun is shining in your eyes in contrast to what you see when the sun is behind you. Record the changing cast shadow from long to short to nonexistent throughout the day. Write down the direction you are facing and the time of day for each drawing and make notes about your observations. You can do several of these drawings on a page, filling several pages of your book. |

| Due Week 10
| Sketchbook
| March 15  |
| Texture Swatches  |
| Develop four pages of texture swatches. Closely examine surfaces with varied textures, such as shiny, smooth, rough, and spiny. Draw the textures independently of the objects. For each texture collected render with pencil, charcoal and ink to examine the variation of possible marks. Think of this as making an inventory or bank of textures. |

| Due Week 11
| Sketchbook
| March 22  |
| Translating Color to Value  |
| Spend the day observing and translating colors into values in your sketchbook. Create a still life from objects at home; select white, red and blue objects. With your gray scale in hand, use it to determine from white to black how light or dark the colors of the surfaces. Avoid becoming involved in the detail of the objects but record a general sense of the relative values through simple geometric shapes. Squinting at the colors and holding a gray scale next to them can help you to determine which is lighter or darker in value. |
Merging and Emerging Objects

In your sketchbook, do several quick tonal studies of a still life with a controllable light source. Darken the room and set the light so that the lights and shadows on the objects merge with the ground, the background, and each other. Edit and manipulate the tones in your studies (See Kollwitz and Seurat examples in your text) so that some areas merge and others separate to create the space you want.

Proportional Studies of Artworks

Go to the Art Library, select a book of paintings by masters of the Renaissance (ask your instructor for suggested artists)

With an ebony pencil or other soft drawing tool, make quick studies of works of five different works of art—drawings, paintings, photographs or prints—depicting interior spaces. Start each with a rectangular frame representing the perimeter of the field in careful proportion. Look for major shapes and divisions of the field and express them simply in your sketch. Try to be precise about the proportional division of the rectangle. If there is a strong role for value, areas of detail, or strong spatial effect, indicate this in your sketchbook.

Layered Materials

Make some sketches from nature, if possible, a distant view of landscape or town where objects are small enough to be part of a larger texture, such as Payne's Prairie. Work with two of three materials with different qualities that will blend and overlap each other to evoke complex textures. A good choice might be water-soluble colored pencil worked over with watercolor. You can create intricate mark-based patterns with the pencils and then overlap and partially dissolve them with the watercolor, adding atmosphere and modulating depth.

This is the last sketchbook exercise
