Course Description/Purpose:

TPA 4946: Production Practicum – Stage Management, is a course for undergraduate School of Theatre and Dance (SoTD) students that examines the application of stage management techniques and artistry by serving as a Stage Manager, Deck Stage Manager, Assistant Stage Manager, or Production Assistant on a SoTD production.

Course Objectives and Student Outcomes:

By the end of this course students will:

- Demonstrate organizational, time management and communication skills
- Explore the collaborative relationship between stage managers and other members of the artistic and production team
- Further refine skills in project management design, paperwork development, leadership, facilitating technical rehearsals, cue calling, deck management, and other aspects of stage management
- Consider how technology can support and advance traditional stage management practices
- Foster inclusive and people centered spaces
- Practice UF/SoTD health and safety procedures
- Examine the role of stage manager as an artistic contributor to a production
- Complete a physical or digital production book

College of the Arts (CoTA) Meta-Strategy 2021-2025: Systemic Resilience:

Stage Management team mentoring conversations will center on our College Meta-Strategy

The University of Florida College of the Arts intends to be a transformative community, responding to and generating paradigmatic shifts in the arts and beyond. We do so by:

- Embracing the complexity of our evolving human experience and seeking to empower our students and faculty to shape that experience fearlessly through critical study, creative practice, and provocation.
- Collaborating effectively with the forces of change.
- Preparing students to access and unsettle centers of power in a radically changing world.
- Facilitating an arts education that will position emerging artists and researchers as catalysts for equity on local and global levels.
