

SYLLABUS FA23

GRA6931C Research & Practice

A rotating topics course focused on the integration of research and practice to address complex problems within diverse contexts. The study and use of qualitative, quantitative, and mixed research methods appropriate for an expanded practice are addressed through discussions, case studies, writing, fieldwork, and presentations.

Prerequisite: Design and Visual Communication major student or permission of instructor.

MEETING TIMES

Tuesdays, periods 5-7 / 11:45 – 2:45 PM

MXD Design Studio, Infinity Hall 110

INSTRUCTOR INFORMATION

COMMUNICATION

I read and respond to emails Monday – Friday. Outside of class, the fastest and best way to reach me is via UF Teams chat.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

This course fosters knowledge building and skill development in the MXD areas, as listed below. It is a companion course to GRA 6931C Research & Practice, so students should actively seek connections between these two courses.

- Learn how to design in a complex, intercultural environment for a diverse audience.
- Explore the diverse aspects necessary to design for 'real world problems and constraints (including intercultural communication strategies, budgets, constituents' needs and wants, feasibility, dissemination).
- Study and apply different methods to conduct design research fieldwork and visualization.
- Learn and apply research methods to achieve desired outcomes.
- Develop engaging documentation for public dissemination.
- Work directly with communities and disciplinary experts to develop innovative solutions to community-identified problems.

PROGRAM LEARNING OUTCOMES

1. Design: Develop a body of work(s) that includes visual communications artifacts, design systems, and design strategies and reflects original, creative, and innovative contributions.
2. Research: Identify and apply research concepts, methods, and activities that are contextual, respectful, and advance a co-design framework. Pursue visual research through process-driven iterations informed by a literature review.

3. Communication: Creates a portfolio that organizes and communicates research, findings, proposals, and work products professionally with their intended audience using visual, verbal, and written skills. Disseminate research findings in public to further participate in disciplinary discourse.
4. Working with People: Collaborates and works effectively in interdisciplinary and multidisciplinary teams to develop approaches and solutions to complex problems. This may include using materials or content from collaborations.
5. Specialization: Develops expertise in an area of one's choosing to support professional goals (the "and" in "Design and ____").

REQUIRED RESOURCES

- > Students studying in the Graphic Design BFA program must have appropriate hardware and software for use in and outside of class time. See this website for more details regarding hardware, software, specifications, and purchasing options, including discounts for UF students. This includes accessing the Adobe Creative Cloud (Education Discount Available).
- > We will use the following software, which offers free education accounts when you sign up with your .edu email (for your account security, never use your UF email and Gatorlink password together outside of UF): Miro, Figma, Notion, Trello, One Drive and more (see instructions on Canvas)
- > The instructor will provide readings, viewings, and other materials to you on Canvas.

UNDERSTANDING DESIGN IN CONTEXT

Students are encouraged to employ critical thinking and to rely on data and verifiable sources to interrogate all assignments, assigned readings, materials, and subject matter in this course as a way of determining whether they agree with their classmates and/or their instructor. No lesson is intended to espouse, promote, advance, inculcate, or compel a particular feeling, perception, viewpoint, or belief.

HOW I TEACH

I approach teaching as a conversation – one where I provide leadership and direction, mentor you, and facilitate your learning so that you can further develop as a designer and researcher. However, I also understand that structure is important to many students, and I aim to provide that. However, you must also plan to work independently, have intellectual curiosity, and a level of commitment to your work to practice and iterate. Be willing to own your education. I expect if you have concerns, or problems, or want to discuss the materials or your project in addition to the time we have together in class, that you will let me know.

STRUCTURE, SCHEDULE & GRADING

You will be asked at the beginning of the semester (Day 1) to co-design aspects of this course, including grading. As such, what is provided here is a template that will be revised in early September and uploaded to Canvas as the FINAL syllabus. Your final grade is awarded based on a review of your design process and deliverables, reflections, and self-evaluation based on your semester plan.

Expect a combination of the following activities under the umbrella of design research and an iterative design practice. This, along with program SLOs, will be used to situate your progress. You are never expected to acquire a level of mastery until completion, so keep in mind that practice is progress.

Each semester students will focus on learning how to design in context, or in the case of advanced students, practicing designing in context. This is an experiential course to learn and grow, as well as to embody some of the key concepts of the MXD and Horizontal Design: Respect, Reciprocity, Representation, Relationality, Trust-building, and Context (Culture, Economy, Society, Environment, etc.), among other concepts. Working in context is different from working in a studio, and we will discuss ways to work and be present. The process will follow the program’s general framework and methodology, although there will be space to alter this based on needs and constraints. The methodology is dynamic in this way.

Each week will include reflection on new knowledge acquired, discussions about how to “connect the dots,” practice and exercises on specific methodologies and design research tools, and feed-back which will be a time for the participants to come together to address questions of import to individuals, the project, stakeholders, and context. Throughout the course the activities will be flexible enough to accommodate natural changes in progress, and activities will be flexible enough to accommodate natural changes. Expect change. Expect to turn in materials each week and keep a collection of all your work. We will discuss the schedule in class. However, there will be a mid-point check-in as well as a final presentation (plan for December 5, 2023).

Keep in mind the following as you connect the dots.

1. acquiring: academic and popular material, concept, and idea acquisition through reading, viewing, searching, and discussion.
2. exploring: design research activities (ex: design, embodied/experiential, documenting, collecting, etc.) to support project development.
3. understanding: analysis, synthesis, critical thinking, and reflection demonstrated through summaries, reflections, quizzes, and inclusion in presentations, case studies/process books.
4. ideating: concept and content generation.
5. design: design making from initial sketches and prototypes to the production of final project deliverables, note that sometimes this is diagrammatic, or illustrating work in progress.

The purpose of grading and evaluation is to pinpoint the strengths and weaknesses of your work. We can only respond to what is observable. You can play an active role in sharing your progress in multiple ways. Individual assignments with details are provided on Canvas. The course is set up so you cannot see the average grade. As the project activities build on one another other, if you do not complete one part (ex: the research), you will have difficulty progressing because there will be nothing to base your next steps on – this is not intentionally punitive, just that there are multiple steps within an iterative design process.

UF GRADING POLICIES

Current UF grading policies for assigning grade points. Work produced in this course should demonstrate your potential as a designer. Use all the tools in your toolkit, develop these through practice, and create new tools when needed. All work produced in this course should directly apply to your final graduation portfolio and showcase your tools and interest. Sustained attention is required throughout the semester. Participation, iteration, communication, and radical creativity will be critical to everyone’s success.

ACTIVE PARTICIPATION

While there are different activities throughout the semester, your participation is usually a gauge of your progress. If you have ways you prefer to participate, please see me after the first class meeting to discuss accommodations and options for you to participate fully and benefit. This can accommodate introverts, extroverts, different learning styles, and comfort levels.

ITERATIONS

Both research and design are iterative processes that allow you to build on your ideas. It is good practice to work consistently, obtain feedback from instructors and peers, and learn in this environment. To come to class prepared and put maximum sustained effort into your work leaves everyone at an advantage. We depend on each other for growth and development, critical insight, and feedback, so we get back what we give when we put in this work.

COMMUNICATION

You are responsible for emails sent to your ufl.edu account and messages to you via Teams. It is a good practice to check both at least once daily between Monday and Friday. I check emails at least once daily Monday–Friday and Teams more frequently.

PROGRAM VISIBILITY

Unless otherwise requested, your work may be used to promote the graphic design program at the University of Florida, in faculty teaching portfolios, and as educational examples in academic conferences or journals. We will make every attempt to credit your work to you where appropriate. You retain the copyright of your work.

ATTENDANCE

Being present for class allows you to participate in the co-design community that supports the MxD. If you must miss class without anticipating official documentation, email the instructor ahead of time to make arrangements. Students observing a religious holy day of their faith must notify the instructor in advance. Other requirements for class attendance and make-up exams, assignments, and other work in this course are consistent with university policies that can be found at:

<https://catalog.ufl.edu/ugrad/current/regulations/info/attendance.aspx>

Each unexcused absence will reduce the final course grade by half a letter grade (ex: A to A-, B+ to B). Two late arrivals (5 minutes or more late) or early departures (before class is dismissed) will equal one unexcused absence. Arriving more than 20 minutes after the start of class is no longer considered tardy and will count as an unexcused absence. More than five absences result in automatic course failure unless we've planned of time to accommodate ongoing, documented situations.

DEADLINES + MAKEUP WORK

All work is due on the day and time listed. Missed work can be made up in the case of documented emergencies or for university-approved reasons such as military/university travel, illness, or religious observances; contact me ahead of time to make arrangements. Work may be different from what is originally assigned. It is your responsibility to ask for make-up work within a week of the absence. If you are absent or late it is your responsibility to obtain missed information from another student in the class. Read the full university policies regarding attendance, excused absences, and make-up exams at:

<https://catalog.ufl.edu/ugrad/current/regulations/info/attendance.aspx>

ACCOMMODATIONS

Students with disabilities who experience learning barriers and would like to request academic accommodations should connect with the Disability Resource Center. Click here to get started with the Disability Resource Center. Students must share their accommodation letter with their instructor and discuss their access needs as early as possible in the semester (or let me know if something is pending). You may also let me know informally if there is something that I can do to support you in this course – I am aware that official accommodations are often hard to come by, require resources, and are often designed for other kinds of courses.

ONLINE COURSE EVALUATIONS

Students are expected to provide professional and respectful feedback on the quality of instruction in this course by completing course evaluations online via GatorEvals. Guidance on how to give this feedback is available at <https://gatorevals.aa.ufl.edu/students/>. Students will be notified when the evaluation period opens and can complete evaluations through the email they receive from GatorEvals, in their Canvas course menu under GatorEvals, or via <https://ufl.bluera.com/ufl/>.

Summaries of course evaluation results are available to students at <https://gatorevals.aa.ufl.edu/public-results/>.

M&S FEES

$50 – this supports the studio learning environment and more.

ACCESS TO LIBRARIES

Students with disabilities have an equal right to use and benefit from resources at the George A. Smathers Libraries, including (but not limited to) Course Reserves materials. To ensure this right, students with disabilities: 1. Have the responsibility to identify themselves as needing appropriate, reasonable accommodations for their disabilities. 2. Have the responsibility for making their needs known promptly. 3. Have the same obligation as any library user to comply with library policies and procedures.”

The George A. Smathers Libraries Course Reserves Unit will work with patrons needing assistance or accommodations to access course reserves materials. Please contact the Course Reserves Unit at 352-273-2520, or email at eres@uflib.ufl.edu for information or assistance. We encourage students to contact and register with the University of Florida Disability Resource Center at 352-392-8565 or accessuf@dso.ufl.edu.

UF RELIGIOUS HOLIDAYS POLICY

Students, upon prior notification of their instructors, shall be excused from class or other scheduled academic activity to observe a religious holy day of their faith. Students shall be permitted a reasonable amount of time to make up the material or activities covered in their absence. Students shall not be penalized due to absence from class or other scheduled academic activity because of religious observances.

TECHNOLOGY, COURSE FEES, AND EQUIPMENT USE

With questions related to your computer system and technology (network, printers) in the graphic design studio(s), you can contact the program's Senior Teaching Lab Specialist – Michael Christopher (mchristo@ufl.edu). He can help diagnose problems and recommend solutions.

Lab fees are used to supply the printers with ink and paper. Be conservative in your use of these materials not only because they cost money but because they create waste. We care about the environment. Balance what you need to make your work and resource use. Reuse and recycle whenever possible. Note that your GD lab fees do not cover the printing of materials or use of supplies for other courses, even art-related courses. Printing for non-GD courses or activities (even if your own) must be done elsewhere. Misuse of equipment will result in heavy monitoring of everyone and/or the loss of privileges for those who don't think policies apply to them. Paper is only supplied for the color and black laser printers. Plan to purchase your paper for the Epson inkjet and plotter printers. Toners and ink are covered for all printers.

EXCELLENT PRACTICES

1. Be open and constructive. Critique ideas, not people.
2. You are all colleagues—friendship is a bonus. Be community-minded.
3. Work hard to guarantee the studios are safe and brave spaces for all. Respect personal differences, elevate and celebrate uniqueness..
4. The studio is a creative, professional workplace. It is not your home. Respect and maintain this space.
5. Respect each other by listening to your music on headphones during individual design sessions and keeping your desk, row, and communal areas clean.
6. Recycle paper, bottles, and cans. Reuse other materials.
7. Throw away trash. Do not leave food lying around. We ask that you be attentive to cleaning up and throwing away food remains—preferably in the hallway trash cans.
8. Do not use spray adhesive in the studios or the building. There is a professional and safe spray booth on the 2nd floor.
9. Never use or harm animals or the environment in your projects. Using animals in your design projects is strictly regulated and prohibited unless you have UF approval. Keep in mind I will never authorize this for a design project.
10. When working in the evening or when a few students are present, you should keep the studio door closed. Do not reveal the door passcode to anyone outside of the program. Never leave the studio open and unattended.
11. Cell phones should be turned to vibrate or low ring mode during class. If you must take a phone call, do so in the hallway or production room to minimize disruption. If you have an emergency, you may also use my office.
12. Access to individual classrooms, laboratories, and studio facilities is limited to those enrolled in the program. If you notice any strangers, feel free to question or report them to the University Police. See <http://police.ufl.edu>. Dial 911 for emergencies or 352-392-1111 otherwise. Let's take care of each other!
13. If you encounter other problems in the classroom or studio, first speak with your instructor outside of class or speak with the graphic design program head.
