Lesson Content and Procedures (Taken from course proposal)

Technical skill: Skill levels are assessed and techniques for improvement of deficiencies are demonstrated. Repertoire and/or exercises (scales, etudes, etc.) appropriate for the improvement of skills are assigned. Students demonstrate their understanding of the techniques for improvement through its application to the repertoire and/or exercises assigned. As mentioned above, students in their first four semester of study will complete regular technical skills tests and mini-lessons with the studio GA.

Musicianship (Dynamics, Rhythm, Phrasing, Expression, Style): Exposure to repertoire and level of musicianship is assessed. Repertoire designed to fill deficiencies is assigned. Principles of musicianship appropriate for the assigned repertoire are discussed and demonstrated. Students demonstrate their understanding of those principles through the application of the principle to repertoire performance.

Sight Reading: Sight reading materials are chosen. Common elements and organizational patterns are identified. Performance is attempted and analyzed with recommendations for improvement.

Pedagogy: Principles of pedagogy and their application in appropriate settings are presented.

Lessons will begin the First Full Week of Classes in Fall 2024

Trombone Studio Class/Trombone Choir will be held weekly on Tues/Thurs from 12:50-1:40 PM. Studio Class/Trombone Ensemble is considered an extension of the private lesson and attendance is required. Trombone Masterclass is an extension of private lessons and an important component of applied study. Regular participation is highly encouraged.

Attendance and Scheduling: Requirements for class attendance and make-up exams, assignments, and other work in this course are consistent with university policies that can be found at: <https://catalog.ufl.edu/ugrad/current/regulations/info/attendance.aspx>.

It is your responsibility to sign up for lessons in advance. Sign up for lesson times promptly. Be on time for scheduled lessons and knock on my door when it is time for your lesson. (Please wait for a break in the phrase or a moment of silence to knock. Be Courteous to your teacher and peers.)

A student who cannot attend a scheduled lesson must notify me AT LEAST 24 hours in advance; otherwise, except for accident or illness immediately preceding the lesson, the right to make up a lesson is forfeited.

The following are considered an extension of the lesson in terms of attendance and grading:

Trombone Choir and Trombone Choir Events, Studio Class (Those with conflicts will not have their grades adversely affected), Masterclass, Brass Faculty Recitals, Guest Artist Masterclasses and Recitals, Studio Recitals, as well as BRASS AREA RECITALS and CONVOCATION RECITALS. An unexcused absence from one of these events, or failure to perform on a recital, affects grading in the same way as an unexcused absence from a lesson. An applied instructor has no obligation to make up a lesson if the student signs up late, or fails to show up for a scheduled lesson. Lessons that need to be rescheduled due to absence of the teacher will be made up promptly at the mutual convenience of the student and teacher. If a student has an unexcused absence from the dress rehearsal for a trombone ensemble performance, they will not participate in the following performance. If a student has an unexcused absence from one of the studio events listed above, an alternative makeup assignment may be given to erase the unexcused absence at the discretion of the instructor.

Communication, Materials, Binder: Please respond to any and all communication from the instructor in a timely and professional manner. CANVAS will be utilized as an online learning platform for the studio, so please check it daily for updates and communications. Email is the de facto method of professional communication, so please thoroughly read all communications and respond in a timely and professional manner.

It is the student's responsibility to acquire all music required and to bring materials to lessons. Each Student will maintain and develop a binder to contain materials related to performance pedagogy that the teacher will distribute in the form of handouts. The binder will also contain the course syllabus, assignment and weekly practice log (6-10-24 or other method), a notebook (for taking notes in lessons, reviewing lesson and performance recordings, as well as for private practice), and other materials. Bring the binder to every lesson. Keep note paper available in your binder to take notes and track your assignments from week to week.

Recording and Reflection: I encourage all studio members to record lessons, for this purpose I am encouraging a Collabra subscription for Fall 2023. It is also a requirement that you record any public solo or chamber music performance in which you participate. It is important that you listen to each lesson and performance recording in order that you may reflect on the state of your progress. Take notes as you listen and bring them to your next lesson so that we can discuss this reflection and revise our lesson and study plans to better suit your needs. I will see to it that studio recitals are recorded. It will be your responsibility to see that your performances in brass area, convocation, and degree recitals is recorded. If you don't own your own digital recorder ask a friend nicely to help you record on their equipment. For degree recitals you may request in advance that the recording studio record your recital (for a fee). I recommend this; however, if it is not a financial possibility then please arrange another way to record your performance; however, do not depend on the studio teacher to be your recording engineer.

Evaluations: Students are expected to provide professional and respectful feedback on the quality of instruction in this course by completing course evaluations online via GatorEvals. Guidance on how to give feedback in a professional and respectful manner is available at gatorevals.aa.ufl.edu/students/. Students will be notified when the evaluation period opens, and can complete evaluations through the email they receive from GatorEvals, in their Canvas course menu under GatorEvals, or via ufl.bluera.com/ufl/. Summaries of course evaluation results are available to students at gatorevals.aa.ufl.edu/public-results/.

Accommodations: Students with disabilities requesting accommodations should first register with the Disability Resource Center (352-392-8565, www.dso.ufl.edu/drc/) by providing appropriate documentation. Once registered, students will receive an accommodation letter which must be presented to the instructor when requesting accommodation. Students with disabilities should follow this procedure as early as possible in the semester.

Jury Information: All students enrolled in applied music studies must demonstrate performance skills on their primary instrument at the end of each semester of study. This performance exam is called a jury and takes place during finals week. Brass faculty members will hear juries and assess each student's progress. Each faculty member assigns a grade and provides a written critique of the performance. Grades are averaged into a jury exam grade and constitute a portion of the grade for the semester. Students will perform prepared repertoire, scales, and sight-reading at the jury.

Grading Policy: Information on current UF grading policies for assigning grade points:

<https://catalog.ufl.edu/ugrad/current/regulations/info/grades.aspx>.

Play On Your Instrument.

Play on the instrument in a variety of: Tempos, Dynamics, Articulations, and Octaves

Capture the style and mood of each tune, Play With a Great Sound and Record Yourself Maintain a Steady and Constant Pulse - Play With a Metronome

Each week prepare the above tunes keys to perform in your lesson and studio class.

Practice Recommendations: Regular, Daily Practice is crucial to your development and improvement. Accomplishing your goals in your practice time is of the utmost importance, therefore, there is no set required time amount and efficiency and results are more important than time suggestions; however, I have listed below some suggestions for minimum times (times listed here do not include listening time, this is actual, focused and productive practice time outside of ensembles):

Music Education Majors: 3-6 sessions per day minimum, plus listening time

Music Performance and Majors: 6 sessions per day, minimum, plus listening time Non-Majors and

Secondary Instruments: 2-3 sessions per day, minimum, plus listening time

The above listed times do not include ensemble rehearsal time and/or listening time and score study.

Private practice takes place before, after, in addition to, and outside of, ensemble rehearsals!

Your practice time should be scheduled just as a class is. It must be planned into your daily/weekly/monthly schedule. If you wait until “you get around to it”, “when you have time”, “when you feel like it”, or “when you don’t have anything else to do” your productivity and playing will suffer! “First, no one will notice; then, you will notice; and finally everyone will notice!” Plan ahead, be productive and you will improve.

Assignments: (NASM Requirement) Three levels of enrollment reflect the following minimum practice amounts: (Enrollment is determined by option and concentration) 1 credit hour enrollment = 1 hour daily practice; 2 credit hour enrollment - 2 hours daily practice; 4 credit hour enrollment - 3-4 hours daily practice
