Required Texts

- All required reading and viewing materials will be made available on Canvas as PDFs, through e-reserves, or hyperlinks.

Required Performances & Events

This course requires attendance at two (2) events outside of regular class time. Please get them in your calendar right away and make arrangements so that you can attend. Some performances have a ticket cost, and others are free. I have not required you to buy a textbook for the course so that those funds can go toward ticket prices. You will have an assignment attached to each performance attendance.

CHOOSE ONE PERFORMANCE FROM THIS LIST:

- Option 1. October 9, 6-9pm: Whitehorse Family & Friends Indigenous Dance Performance @ Harn Museum
- Option 2. November 20-23, times vary: Agbedidi, A Fusion of Traditional African and Contemporary Dance @ SoTD Constans Theater

CHOOSE ONE STUDENT GROUP PERFORMANCE:

- Choose a student group you're familiar with, or choose one that's new to you, that has a dance performance this semester and attend it. You may consider Adaa (Indian fusion dance), Chinese American Student Association, Genesis (K-Pop cover dance crew), Sabor Latino (salsa and other Latinx dance), etc. The only requirement is that the group's style and mission connects to one or more keywords from the course (list below).

DANCE AREA EVENTS: In addition to these performances regular class sessions, all BA and BFA Dance majors (but not minors) are expected to attend the events listed at the end of this syllabus. Links will be announced through the Dance Area Headquarters Canvas site.

Canvas & Zoom

This course is set up on Canvas (e-learning) and may make use of Zoom for virtual meetings as needed. All students must have access to Canvas and Zoom on a regular basis to successfully complete the course. All assignments and out-of-class communication will take place in Canvas. A schedule and timeline for the course can be found on the Canvas calendar. For help with Canvas or Zoom, contact the UF Computing Help Desk at 352-392-4357 or via e-mail at helpdesk@ufl.edu.

Catalog Course Description

What does it mean to dance “locally” in a global world, whether onstage, on screens, in the streets, or at the club? Activities combine readings, viewings (live and documented performance), and embodied experiences with written and performance-based assignments.

Prerequisite: Dance Major or dance minors.

Course Vision & Outcomes

Course Overview - This intro-level Dance Studies course asks what it means to dance “locally” in a global world, whether onstage, on screens, in the streets, or at the club. It invites students to understand dance as a unique and powerful way to shed light on questions of the movement of people and cultures across the globe (globalization, migration, colonization, and more). How does thinking about dance through a global perspective inform our understandings of fusion dance styles, cultural authenticity, and viral dance phenomena? Course activities carry the dual purpose of assessing content and introducing students to common research methods in Dance Studies. Students will combine readings, viewings (live and documented performance), and embodied experiences with quizzes, presentations, and written and performance-based assignments.

Student Learning Objectives

During and upon completion of this course, students will (be able to) ...

- Analyze the function of dance in cultures locally and around the globe.
- Describe the various ways that dance is transmitted, transformed, continued and regenerated across cultures.
- Examine indigenous and contemporary dance forms to critical analyze colonization, migration and globalization.
- Enhance our embodied knowledge through creative exploration during movement practicums.
- Apply the theoretical thoughts introduced in seminars to our experience as movers during dance practicums.

Keywords

Identity, culture, indigenous, representation, gender, sexuality, evolution, authenticity, cultural transmission, cultural exchange, appropriation, colonization, migration, globalization, commodification, and codification.

Participation

Daily Engagement in Class Community: Please plan to complete all assigned reading and viewing materials before the class in when they are to be discussed. Come to class prepared to listen deeply, raise questions, share responses to material, and engage in class activities with an informed, thoughtful, and considerate approach.

Verbal communication: Many class meetings will revolve around discussion. Much like writing, verbal communication is a skill that can be learned and practiced. There are many ways to participate verbally: asking follow-up questions, requesting clarification, responding to questions that arise in conversation, reading aloud from the text, participating in small group activities, reporting back from small group activities, sharing a relevant experience, referring to your notes from a previous discussion and interjecting that into the conversation, etc.

Step Up/ Step Back: If you are someone who likes to talk during class (great!), participation for you also means allowing some silence and space for others to jump in. Practice self-awareness of how much “air time” you occupy in class. Are you always the first to raise your hand? Do you speak multiple times in every class meeting? If so, that’s wonderful – you’re a verbal, interpersonal learner and you’re engaged! However, you’re not in this class alone, and being a considerate member of the community also means consciously leaving space for others. Follow this rule: step up/step back. (Thank you to the Urban Bush Women’s Summer Leadership Institute for this language!)

Written Participation: Occasionally I will offer other kinds of opportunities to participate through short written assignments in class (journal prompts, polls, “exit tickets,” etc). This is designed to offer more ways to earn participation points beyond talking in class. If you would like to take notes on discussion and submit them to me after class as your participation for the day, that is valid too!

Nonverbal communication also matters! Especially if you are more introverted, an intrapersonal learner, or are practicing stepping back, show your community that you are engaged with your body language. Keep your phone in your bag. Don’t open anything on your computer that will distract you. Watch the person talking/moving and show physical signs of following along, understanding, affirmation, etc. (nodding your head, rapping on your desk, snapping, etc.). Take notes. Assume a posture that tells others you are alert and present.

Embodied engagement: The class will routinely engage in embodied assignments and activities. Students are expected to approach embodied exercises with the same rigor and attention as discussion.

Office hours visits to discuss your experiences in the course, assigned material, assignments, etc. count toward your grade for engagement in class community.

Self-advocacy is an important part of your consistent engagement in our class community. That means, if you are experiencing life circumstances that make it difficult for you to show up fully, communicate with me about that in advance and/or in the moment as is possible. You may ask to take notes on a given day and hand those in as proof of participation, or suggest other accommodations to fit your circumstance. The important thing is that we both recognize that not everyone will be able to engage fully every single day, and that’s ok. Just let me know what’s going on – that’s an important part of being an accountable member of the community too! (Thanks to my F21 Teaching Methods class for reminding me of this point!)

Attendance, Late Work, and Extra Credit

Dance Area Attendance Policy

This course expects students to participate in in-person instruction. Unless other arrangements are made in advance, students are expected to be in attendance daily and to be on time.

Dance Area Attendance Policy: For classes that meet 2x/week, students can take 2 absences with no penalty; no documentation is required for the first 2 absences as they are automatically excused. If the third absence is unexcused, it will result in 5% deduction from the final grade. Excused or unexcused, on the third absence, a meeting is required with the instructor and/or area faculty to assess the student's continued participation in the course. If the fourth absence and all subsequent absences are unexcused, each will result in an additional 5% deduction from the final grade. Opportunities to make up missed material for unexcused absences is up to the instructor's discretion and will be made available through virtual classes or online assignments.

Late arrival/ early departure: You are late if you arrive after role has been taken/class has begun.

- There will be a 5-minute grace period at the start and end of class.
- 3 late arrivals/ early departures for regular class meetings equals 1 unexcused absence.

Any absence from class for the following reasons must be supported by official acceptable documentation to avoid a grade penalty:

- Illness (including COVID-19*)—doctor's note must be on official letterhead with address and phone number, noting the date and time of visit and diagnosis verifying that an absence from class is warranted, doctor name and signature
- Serious family emergencies
- Special curricular requirements (e.g., judging trips, field trips, professional conferences)
- Military obligation
- Severe weather conditions
- Participation in official university activities such as music performances, athletic competition or debate
- Court-imposed legal obligations (e.g., jury duty or subpoena)

- To help organize accommodations, students should inform the instructor by the end of the second week of classes of religious observances of their faith that will conflict with class attendance this semester.

*If you are experiencing COVID-19 symptoms (<https://www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-ncov/symptoms-testing/symptoms.html>), please use the UF Health screening system (<https://coronavirus.ufhealth.org/screen-test-protect/covid-19-exposure-and-symptoms-who-do-i-call-if/>) and follow the instructions on whether you are able to attend class. Course materials will be provided to you with an excused absence, and you will be given a reasonable amount of time to make up work (<https://catalog.ufl.edu/UGRD/academic-regulations/attendance-policies/>).

- Instructor note: If you are experiencing barriers to in-class attendance, such as lack of transportation, housing insecurity, or other things, please contact me as soon as possible so that we can discuss solutions.

Late Work

Each student gets two (2) Late Work Tokens to use for an extension at any time they wish. You do not need to give me a reason for using the token. You identify your new due date, but it cannot be any later than one (1) week after the original due date. When you want to use a Token:

- 1. BEFORE the assignment is due: Submit a Request to Use Late Work Token (this is an “Assignment” on Canvas). Once I get your request, I will change the assignment due date in Canvas as requested.
- 2. Submit the assignment before the new due date/time. In the “Comments,” write a note indicating that you’re using Late Work Token 1 or 2.

If you use both tokens and feel that you have a legitimate need for more, come to my office hours for a one-on-one meeting with me to discuss your extenuating circumstances. Deadlines in other classes and extracurricular obligations do not constitute extenuating circumstances. If you have a documented accommodation, see “Accommodations” below.

Extra Credit

Students may earn up to 6 points extra credit points by attending performance, lectures, or other events approved by the instructor and submitting a short write-up. All approved events will be listed on Canvas in the “Extra Credit” Assignment, where students must submit their write-ups by Dec 5 @ 11:59pm. This is the only extra credit available; please do not request any other form. If you have suggestions for performances or other events to add to the Extra Credit list, please send them to Dr. Carrico via Canvas Inbox.

Tentative Weekly Course Schedule

Changes to the syllabus: Details on each unit's weekly schedule will be provided on Canvas. While this document provides guidelines for the class, I do reserve the right to change the syllabus at any time during the semester if the need arises. Each class is different, and sometimes it takes some tweaking to respond to the needs of the group. Being flexible with the syllabus allows us to get it right. Thanks in advance for your understanding.

Policies, Expectations & Resources

Learning Community

Most people learn best when they are encouraged to ask questions and express their diverse opinions on course content. This is especially true in courses that deal with provocative or contemporary issues by studying images, texts, data, and theories from many fields. UF offers many such courses, including this one, in which students encounter concepts of race, color, sex, and/or national origin. So many of us at UF teach these important issues because understanding them is essential for anyone who seeks to make economic, cultural, and societal contributions to today's complex world. With this in mind, we do not limit access to, or classroom discussion of, ideas and opinions - including those that some may find uncomfortable, unwelcome, disagreeable, or even offensive. However, this does NOT mean that any and all behavior is acceptable.

As a learning community, I ask that we collectively invest in an environment in which all class members feel empowered to take risks, ask questions, experiment, and grow. I encourage us all to ask honest questions and thoughtfully engage one another's ideas. Perhaps most importantly, I invite us to critically evaluate our own thoughts, opinions, and assumptions. Feelings of discomfort often accompany complex issues, especially if they are personal for us, and that is OK - oftentimes individual discomfort is a necessary part of our collective learning. At the same time, hostility, disruptive and disrespectful behavior, and provocation for provocation's sake have no place in a classroom; reasonable people disagree reasonably.

I will do my best to offer content warnings in anticipation of material that may be particularly sensitive. I ask that, as part of your rigorous intellectual and physical engagement, you meet the course material as best you can. Respect, openness, and the capacity to listen and respond sensitively and intelligently are of utmost importance in the classroom. Please consult with me should any questions or concerns around course content or classroom climate arise. These guidelines can help us all, instructors and students, as we work together to fulfill the mission of the University of Florida, which includes the exploration of intellectual boundaries, the creation of new knowledge and the pursuit of new ideas.

- Online Learning Community: Our learning community includes the parts of our lives that play out online. Your commitment to creating a positive learning community includes not only how you interact in class but also how you interact with and/or represent other members of our class online via email, threaded discussions on Canvas, social media, and other platforms. I ask that we be honorable and attentive to how we talk to and about each other both on and offline.
- Email: Please use formal language when corresponding with me and with each other regarding class business. An email is not a text message nor a DM. Please only use your UFL.EDU email account or the email tool within Canvas for e-mail correspondence related to class, begin emails with a formal greeting, and avoid everyday colloquialisms. For UF guidelines on "netiquette": <http://teach.ufl.edu/docs/NetiquetteGuideforOnlineCourses.pdf>

Course Evaluations: Students are expected to provide professional and respectful feedback on the quality of instruction in this course by completing course evaluations online via GatorEvals. Guidance on how to give feedback in a professional and respectful manner is available at <https://gatorevals.ua.ufl.edu/students/>. Students will be notified when the evaluation period opens, and can complete evaluations through the email they receive from GatorEvals, in their Canvas course menu under GatorEvals, or via <https://ufl.bluer.com/ufl/>. Summaries of course evaluation results are available to students at <https://gatorevals.ua.ufl.edu/public-results/>.

Honor Code: UF students are bound by The Honor Pledge, which states, “We, the members of the University of Florida community, pledge to hold ourselves and our peers to the highest standards of honor and integrity by abiding by the Honor Code. On all work submitted for credit by students at the University of Florida, the following pledge is either required or implied: ‘On my honor, I have neither given nor received unauthorized aid in doing this assignment.’” The Honor Code (<https://sccr.dso.ufl.edu/policies/student-honor-code-student-conduct-code/>) specifies a number of behaviors that are in violation of this code and the possible sanctions. Furthermore, you are obligated to report any condition that facilitates academic misconduct to appropriate personnel. If you have any questions or concerns, please consult with the instructor.

A note on writing and plagiarism: Plagiarism can be a fuzzy area. It can be difficult to know if you are plagiarizing when you are learning things from what you’re reading and seeing, and then applying what you are learning to your own writing. If you have any doubts about your work and how you are using someone else’s material, please ask me. It is better to ask than to inadvertently plagiarize.¹

Accommodations: Appropriate accommodations will always be granted to students with documented disabilities. Please notify me if there are aspects of the instruction or design of this course that result in disability-related barriers to your participation as soon as possible, and we can work to find a solution. Note that students with disabilities requesting accommodations should first register with the Disability Resource Center (352-392-8565, www.dso.ufl.edu/drc/) by providing appropriate documentation. Once registered, students will receive an accommodation letter, which must be presented to the instructor when requesting accommodation. Students with disabilities should follow this procedure as early as possible in the semester.
