

Popular Music in America

MUH 3025, E-Learning in Canvas
Section 1F66, 1H59
Prerequisites: None

Instructor: Terri Brinegar

Office Hours: By appointment only (virtual or on campus). Please contact me through the Inbox tool in Canvas to arrange.

Course Description

This course explores popular music in the United States including its history, styles, composers, artists, and genres. In this course, students will examine the characteristics of popular music, develop listening skills, identify key musical features, and study cultural and historical contexts for making music.

Course Objectives

This course is designed to achieve three goals. First, it introduces new styles, genres, artists, and eras of American popular music while adding social and historical contexts to those that are already familiar. Second, it will help each student to experience music differently, more intentionally, through the discussion of musical and social elements. The final goal is to bring about a stronger conception of the deeper meanings behind the music, what or who influenced its creation, its impact on future genres, and how it fits into American historical experience. This course will widen your comprehension of the times, places, cultural contexts, intellectual debates, and economic conditions that foster (or hinder) innovation. It will also change the way you hear music throughout your life.

Course Structure

The course is organized around a series of modules that explore the place of music in relation to social and political forces in American history and popular culture. There is no expectation of previous musical or music theory study for this course. Each week will have a set of modules, accessible through e-Learning (Canvas). These modules will include instructions on readings in the textbook, instructions on listening examples, links to online discussions, PDFs, lecture videos, and weekly quizzes. Deadlines are clearly posted in the Canvas calendar and on each assignment and no late work will be accepted.

Readings

Required Text (and see below for required listening which requires purchase)

Larry Starr and Christopher Waterman, eds., American Popular Music: From Minstrelsy to MP3, 4th ed. New York: Oxford University Press, 2014. ISBN: 9780199859115

I HIGHLY RECOMMEND that you buy a new version of the text rather than a used copy because you will need the access code to the downloadable audio, which may or may not be available in a used copy. The book is available in the UF Bookstore or online (use express shipping). Not having the required text and music downloads in hand will not be an acceptable reason for an extension on the first week's deadlines.

The publisher for the text has a website with supplemental materials that you may find useful: <http://www.oup.com/us/starr>.

Listening Examples

As I mentioned above, you MUST purchase the fourth edition of the text in order to receive the access code for the downloadable audio examples. Not having the audio examples will create a severe detriment on your ability to fully assimilate the material being discussed. Some of the songs are only available through iTunes and must be purchased for a complete download. You are welcome to access the songs through YouTube if they are available AND the correct version.

Because music is an important part of our class, it is important to listen attentively, or "critically." I recommend listening to each example more than once to fully integrate the musical aspects in relation to the text. You will be assessed on the listening examples, so you must integrate the music along with the explanations in the text of each required song.

Discussion Posts (25%)

In each weekly module, students are expected to post to the discussion board short (250-500 words) essay-type responses to weekly questions, which I will post on the board.

The questions will be based on the readings, listening examples, and/or lectures. These posts are to be in 12-point font and, if you include citations, use the proper format, for example: (Starr, 21). Responses will be graded on a 10-point scale.

DISCUSSION POSTS ARE DUE ON THURSDAY BY 11:59 P.M.

In addition, you must post a reply to at least TWO of your classmates' discussion posts. These should be at least three lines in length and are due on the following Sunday at 11:59 p.m. Failure to submit TWO response posts will earn a ZERO for the assignment as a whole.

Substantive Response Posts

This course relies heavily on your participation and contributions to the discussion board. In addition to observing netiquette guidelines, the following practices will help you earn the best grade possible and support the learning community.

- A "substantive" comment is one that provides something in addition to the initial post or previous comments.
- Posting a question that prompts clarification or leads the discussion deeper into the topic would be considered "substantive".
- Posts that are only "I agree" are not "substantive".

For more information on how to create a substantive post, please view the site below.

<http://www.examiner.com/article/creating-substantive-responses-online-discussion>

Quizzes (30%)

Quizzes will be drawn from the readings, musical examples, and the lecture videos. They must be completed by the posted deadline. The quizzes are 50 minutes in length and include both multiple choice and essay-type responses. Failure to complete the quiz by 11:59 p.m. on Saturday will result in a ZERO on the quiz with no chance for a make-up. QUIZZES ARE DUE ON SUNDAY BY 11:59 P.M. OF EACH WEEK.

Mid-Term Exam (15%)

The mid-term will be a combination of multiple choice, fill in the blanks, and short essay questions. It will cover all material, including listening examples, from the first half of the semester.

Final Exam (20%)

The final exam will be a combination of multiple choice, fill in the blanks, and short essay questions. It will cover all material, including listening examples, from the entire semester.

Final Project (10%)

The final project will be a group project, with approximately five students per group. I will give you more information on the project as we get closer to the date of the assignment.

Supplemental Material

While not required, I highly recommend that you watch the films in the “Supplemental Material” section of some of the modules. These films will greatly enhance your learning experience.

Also, the publisher of the text, Oxford University Press, has a website with additional learning tools for students, found here: <http://www.oup.com/us/starr>

Communication

I will respond to student emails in a timely manner, Monday-Friday, during business hours. Emails sent during the weekend will be replied to on Monday morning. Please use proper capitalization, punctuation, and grammar in your email, as your time at UF is an opportunity to fine-tune your life beyond UF.

Late Work

Because this is an online class, late work will not be accepted. Because some students will register late, the first week assignments will be due during the second week of classes. So please, be diligent about the due dates and times! Ignorance of due dates is not a valid excuse!

Grading

Assignments will be evaluated with a grading rubric within 3 days of assignment due date. Comments will be made from the instructor or teaching assistant within the rubric. Click on the rubric icon to open the rubric to view your grade and comments.

Grading policies follow the policies laid out by UF. To understand how UF assigns grade points see: <https://catalog.ufl.edu/ugrad/current/regulations/info/grades.aspx>. I use a standard grading scale when assigning grades.

A= 93-100

A- = 90-92

Technology

If you experience a technical problem, please contact the e-Learning Help Desk first at helpdesk@ufl.edu. If it is an urgent problem, call them on the phone at (352) 392-4357. Take note of your Help Desk ticket number. Send me an email via the Canvas email system confirming that you have taken the advice of the Help Desk and provide me with your ticket number. If you have a computer malfunction, remember that there are computers available in the libraries across campus. Therefore, technology problems will not be an acceptable excuse for late or absent work. FYI, you MUST be able to listen to the musical examples.

Accommodations for Disabilities

Students who require specific accommodations for a disability should speak with me within the first two weeks of class to ensure these accommodations are met. Students requesting classroom accommodation must first register with the Dean of Students Office. The office will provide documentation to the student who must provide this documentation to the instructor. Contact the Dean of Students Disability Resource Center here: <http://www.dso.ufl.edu/drc/>. If this applies to you, please give me your DRC letter at the beginning of the semester so that I can accommodate your needs.

Academic Integrity

According to UF's Student Conduct & Honor Code, plagiarism includes, but is not limited to:

1. "Quoting oral or written materials including but not limited to those found on the internet, whether published or unpublished, without proper attribution."
2. "Submitting a document or assignment which in whole or in part is identical or substantially identical to a document or assignment not authored by the student."

This can include friend's papers, sources on the internet, or other sources that you do not cite. Any student who is discovered plagiarizing will receive a ZERO for that assignment. If the student plagiarizes more than once, he or she will be reported to the Office of Student Conduct for further actions. If you want to provide a quotation, please use this example: "Quote" (Baker, 21). That is, the quotation followed by the author's last name and the page number or numbers accessed, all enclosed in parenthesis.

NOTE: I do not permit Wikipedia as an academic source! If information is used from Wikipedia rather than the assigned textbook, the student will receive a ZERO for that assignment. As stated on the UF Student Conduct & Honor Code website, unauthorized use of materials include: "3. Any materials or resources which the faculty member has notified the student or the class are prohibited."

Class Schedule

This schedule is tentative and subject to change. Any changes will be announced to the class via Canvas.
