Course Description

This course will offer an examination of selected European works, (especially by women) from the Renaissance to the end of the nineteenth century. Our aim will be to consider ways historians can understand the gendering of pictorial practice, and interpret the practices of representing gendered subjects. Particular consideration will be given to the historical contexts, conceptions of gender and cultural attitudes towards women that conditioned their experiences and artistic practices. Themes addressed in the course include: women's self-representation, work and leisure as they relate to notions of the public and private in art, the ways in which women have negotiated the structures of art institutions, their relationship to patronage and the art market. Also important for this course are issues having to do with the sexual politics of looking (particularly looking at the nude). We will be exploring the ways in which women as artists and beholders have produced or assumed a range of different positions in relation to representing, looking and being represented. The aim of this course then, is not simply to substitute a "feminized" history of art for the traditionally "masculine" one, but to consider critically case studies of women as artists, beholders and subjects of art in dynamic contact with the artistic production and viewing by men. Readings will focus on specific artists and paintings, but will also involve some theoretical inquiry into larger categories of gender, sexuality and "otherness." Issues of the gaze will figure prominently. The course will thus include materials from the fields of history, literary and film theory, gender and cultural studies. Pre-req: ARH 2051 or permission of instructor.

Objectives

This course will emphasize the development of critical thinking skills, advanced writing and research on issues (art historical and otherwise) of gender and representation. Students will also expand their visual literacy by becoming familiar with art by women (and others) in the Western tradition.

General Education Learning Outcomes:

ARH 3871 (passed with a grade of C or better) satisfies the university's General Education Requirement for Humanities and Diversity.

ARH 3871 also satisfies 2000 words of the University Writing Requirement. To receive the E2 credit, you must turn in all assigned papers and you must pass this course with a grade of C or better.

❖ Note: Assistance with writing is available through UF's Reading and Writing Center

* See also this useful link: Writing About Art

Humanities (H)

The humanities requirement enables students to think critically about what artists and thinkers (past and present) have to teach us about the nonmaterial qualities of human beings and human values. In courses in the humanities, students become acquainted with the enduring products --in words, sounds, paint, stone, metal, and many other media -- in which thoughtful and gifted human beings have attempted to meet our individual and collective needs for emotional, spiritual, or intellectual fulfillment. Humanities courses address major intellectual, cultural, and aesthetic achievements. Students consider questions of ultimate meaning and study human activities, artifacts, and values in the context of the ages in which they were produced.

Diversity (D)

Diversity courses provide instruction in the values, attitudes and norms that create cultural differences within the United States. These courses encourage students to recognize how social roles and status affect different groups and have an impact on U. S. society. These courses guide students to analyze and to evaluate their own cultural norms and values in relation to those of other cultures, and to distinguish opportunities and constraints faced by other persons and groups.

Required Texts

§ Whitney Chadwick, Women, Art and Society, (4th ed., 2007) ISBN-10: 0500203938
Chadwick is available through on-line vendors such as Amazon.com, as well as the UF Bookstore. Though we will not be devoting discussion to it, this material is an important supplement to lectures and discussion.

§ Weekly Readings for Discussion -- available on ARES (electronic reserve); some may be on e-learning/Canvas. I will send you updates about this. Other texts are on-line texts, accessible through the AFA website.

About On-line Weekly Readings & How to Get Access to them.

Unless otherwise noted, all discussion readings for this course are accessible through ARES (Link: <http://cms.uflib.ufl.edu/afa/Index.aspxor>). Some longer readings may be posted on the e-Learning site for this course. It will take you time to download the articles – so please plan accordingly. Please let me know immediately if you are having problems accessing the readings. I can help!

❖ Note: You will find various supporting course materials (guidelines for papers, etc.) under Resources on the e-learning site

Course Format and Requirements:

Basic Requirements

Attendance at all class meetings. Weekly readings, active participation in discussions, two short assignments (one written; the other 5 minute oral presentation), one group presentation, two short papers, a research paper with bibliography), three slide quizzes.

Format

This course will combine lectures and discussion of readings and visual evidence. It is therefore essential that you attend all class meetings; b) actively participate in class discussion; c) do the readings (not necessarily in that order). Discussion of readings is an integral part of course work, and depends upon your keeping abreast of the assigned texts completing them before class. In most cases discussions will take place on Thursdays.

Class Participation Includes:

- Attendance (See Attendance and Grading Policies, below.)
- Active Participation in Class Discussion
- Short textbook assignment
- Possible Pop Quizzes on Reading Assignments
- Posting relevant images or other material to the class blog
- Short Introduction of a Woman Artist: A very brief gloss on an assigned artist that includes her name, nationality, dates and an example of her work. Also part of the participation grade.

❖ Note: See e-learning Resources for a list of possible women artists. (You may choose artists not on the list.)

Readings for Discussion:

You will receive key questions to guide your reading the week before we discuss the material in class. You are responsible for all assigned reading. I STRONGLY URGE YOU TO TAKE NOTES ON READINGS TO PREPARE FOR CLASS DISCUSSION FOR AND POSSIBLE POP QUIZZES.

Background Reading:

Though we will not be devoting as much class discussion to it, this material is an important supplement to lectures and discussion.

Pop Quizzes on Readings: If I feel they are needed, there will be up to 5 short, unannounced quizzes (5 minutes) with a question pertaining to the day's reading. These will be folded into the participation grade (though will not amount to more than 15% of the participation grade)

Panel Presentation

In addition to the responsibility of all students for each week's assigned readings, at various points throughout the semester small groups (panels) of four or five students will be responsible for teaching the discussion readings assigned for a given day to the class. (Sometimes the readings are organized as pairs of conflicting interpretations of the same visual material or the issues. It is up to your panel to decide how best to present this material to the class.) Usually discussions will take place on Tuesdays. Panels are responsible for 40-50 minutes of class time, and should meet at least twice outside of class to prepare for the presentation. Only one grade is assigned to the panel as a group, even though individual as well as group work is required. Further details on the panel presentation will be posted to the syllabus soon. You will also receive a second individual grade for the short paper you will be asked to write in connection with your panel's readings.

❖ Note: See e-learning Resources for details on the group panel presentation and individual paper related to it.

Papers:

There are three papers for this course. These will involve careful looking, original interpretation, and applying ideas raised in lectures, readings, group presentations.

- 1) Visual Analysis Paper (2-3 pages/750-1000 words)

❖ Note: If you are not familiar with how to do a Visual Analysis, see guidelines on e-learning.

- 2) Short paper (2-3 pages/750-1000 words), typewritten/double-spaced) due the day of your Panel Presentation. For this paper write about an image of your choosing in relation to the readings presented in your Panel Presentation.

- 2) Research Paper (8-10 pages/2000-2500 words) due on Dec. 14 will be a research paper on a topic of your choosing, and should include detailed interpretive analysis of specific works. A one-page summary of your topic is due Nov. 4. The first two pages of the paper, a research plan, and bibliography (due no later than Nov. 23) will be required of both undergraduates and graduate students before embarking on research. This is a Gordon Rule (2000 word) class.
Bibliographies: A research question/topic and bibliography (due March 19) will be required of both undergraduates and graduate students before embarking on research. About the bibliography: see e-learning (under Resources) for guidelines on assessing sources.

Your bibliography should consist of no less than 8 scholarly (peer reviewed) sources. The majority of them should have been published in the last 40 years, and should be articles or book chapters (not websites, survey textbooks etc.)

Examinations & Quizzes:

No exams in this class. There will be 3 slide quizzes (15-20 slides each). I will post images I expect you to know in a powerpoint document that you can download from the e-Learning site. There will be no make-up quizzes.

Attendance & Grading Policies

Attendance is required. Tuesday absences count as two because we meet for two periods. Unexcused early departures of more than 15 minutes count as an ABSENCE. Except in extenuating circumstances, more than three unexcused absences will affect your final course grade. After three, I may opt to drop your final grade a half-step for every additional unexcused absence (B to B-, B- to C etc.). Excused absences require documentation (note from a doctor, etc.)

Grades for this class will be determined by class participation, presentations, quizzes and written assignments. The breakdown of grades is as follows:

Grading

- Class participation (see above) & Attendance 20%
- Visual Analysis Paper 15%
- Panel presentation 10%
- Short Paper (relating to presentation)
- Slide Quizzes 15%
- Research Paper 30%

Grading Scale for this Course:

A 97	C+ 80
A- 93	C 77
B+ 90	C- 73
B 87	D 70
B- 83	F 60

Classroom Demeanor

Active discussion of the material is expected; lively commentary, personal opinion, creative thinking, insightful analysis are strongly encouraged. Any comparisons and contrasts to contemporary problems and issues enhance our discussion. Feel free to talk about the course material to one another, to pose questions to one another and to the instructor, to challenge, to contest, to argue your point. Be respectful of the opinions of other students; respect ideas that are different from your own. Do not hesitate to put your hand up during lecture to ask questions or to ask for clarification of something you do not understand.

Please abide by these rules of the road:

1. Arrive on time and do not walk in and out of class unless it is a necessity. Walking in and out while the class is in progress is disruptive to the other students and is impolite to the professor.
2. Turn off and put away all mobile phones, iPods, iPhones, iPads, etc. during class. Any day that you violate this policy will be counted as an unexcused absence.
3. Because this class relies on discussion and on attention to the images projected, no laptop computers can be open during class. Any open computers, any web surfing, email answering, face book tending, etc. will be treated as a violation of the attendance policy and the day of the violation will be counted as an unexcused absence.
4. Please do not come to class if you are ill with the flu or any other contagious illness. Illness constitutes an excused absence.

GRADUATE STUDENTS TAKING THIS COURSE AS COGNATE ARH 6917

Are expected to do all assigned coursework (including quizzes) for the class with the following changes in requirements:

Readings Questions: Grad students will not do group panel presentations, but each week (starting week 2) should submit a reading question to me that pertains to each of the assigned readings for the next week's reading. A selection of these questions will then be shared with the undergrads to guide their reading of the material for the following week. These questions are due to me AT LEAST a week before we discuss the readings in class.

Email Response Papers: Grads will also write 5 short response papers (2-3 pages/750-1000 words) on the assigned readings. Your response should be submitted to me via email no later than noon on the day the reading is being discussed. It should consist of a few paragraphs that first summarize the main points of the readings being discussed that day. It should also thoughtfully address some issue raised in one or more of the readings. Your response may take the form of a question or observation, or take up questions I suggest beforehand to the class. You will receive one final collective grade for these email response papers.

Papers: In addition to the visual analysis paper, grads should plan to write a 20-page final paper, or to do an appropriate final project to be decided in consultation with me.

Lecture/10 page Paper Option: Grads who wish to give a 50 minute lecture in the class may do so and write a shorter (10-15 page) final research paper. See me ASAP if you are interested in this option.

Additional Meetings & Readings: Grads will meet with me as a group several times during the course of the semester -- we will need to schedule these meetings by the second week of classes. Additional readings will be assigned for these meetings.

Grading for Grads

- Participation in discussion and attendance 15%
- Reading Questions 10%
- Visual Analysis Paper 15%
- Response Papers 15%
- Slide Quizzes 15%
- Research Paper 30%

Other necessary information

- All course assignments, and changes to the syllabus will be posted to the e-learning website for ARH 3871.
- Announcements about the course —any change in an assignment, class scheduling, etc.— will be posted via e-mail. Please get into the habit of checking for messages the day before class to be sure there hasn't been a change of plans.
- Do not hesitate to email me with any problems or question you may have; I will try to answer your emails promptly – though I try not to email on the weekends. If you are having any difficulty with the course, please be sure to make an appointment to come to office hours so I can help you! I truly want everyone to do well in this class
- The acceptance of a late paper without loss of credit. Papers will be marked down for every day they are late, unless a prior arrangement is made (for a worthy reason) with me.
- You must complete all course requirements in order to pass the course.
- Evaluations: Students are expected to provide feedback on the quality of instruction in this course by completing online evaluations at <https://evaluations.ufl.edu>. Evaluations are typically open during the last two or three weeks of the semester, but students will be given specific times when they are open. Summary results of these assessments are available to students at <https://evaluations.ufl.edu/results/>

• Classroom Accommodation: Students requesting classroom accommodation must first register with the Dean of Students Office. The Dean of Students Office will provide documentation to the student who must then provide this documentation to professor when requesting accommodation.

• Academic Honesty: As a University of Florida student, your performance is governed by the UF Honor Code, available in its full form in the Undergraduate Catalog. The Honor Code requires Florida students to neither give nor receive unauthorized aid in completing all assignments. Violations include cheating, plagiarism, bribery, and misrepresentation, all defined in detail here.

Keep in mind that plagiarism is a serious violation of the student academic honor code. University policy recommends that, as a minimum, instructors should impose a course grade penalty and report any incident of academic dishonesty to the Office of the Dean of Students.

It is plagiarism if you present the ideas or words of someone else as your own. You are responsible for understanding the University's definitions of plagiarism and academic dishonesty. See the Student Honor Code. Ask me if you have any questions!!
